By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, July 30.—The Bolsheviks captured Bialystok, about 40 miles southwest of Grodno, yesterday.

In Galicia Bolshevik cavalry is reported to be 37 miles from Lemberg, where women and children have turned out to aid in building defenses about the city. Every mile to the east and northeast of Lemberg is entrenched with barbed-wire entanglements.

PARIS, July 30.—The limitations which Great Britain and France would put upon Soviet demands of Poland in the armistice are set forth in a notification which has been dispatched to the Warsaw Government by the British and French Governments. It was learned here today that the armistice is to begin at Bialystok tonight.

Poland requested the views of Great Britain and France on possible armistice terms, and the Governments at London and Paris have notified the Polish Government that they will not permit Poland to accept possible Soviet armistice demands involving:

First—Whole or partial disarmament of Poland.
Second—A change in the Polish system of government dictated or brought about by the Soviets.

Third—Acceptance by Poland of a boundary line less favorable than that provisionally drawn by Premier Lloyd George.

Fourth—the use of Poland as a bridgehead, in any sense, between Germany and Russia.

Munitions Moving to Warsaw

As bearing on the military situation, it develops that vast stocks of munitions from the allies are moving toward Warsaw today from Danzig, on the Baltic, and from Rumania and Czechoslovakia. These munitions were for the most part originally dispatched for the army of Gen. Denikin, but were delayed on the way until too late to be available for his use. The munitions being sent from Danzig, however, were shipped recently for the special use of Poland. Other munitions are expected to be in process of shipment from France and Great Britain for Poland within a few days.

Hungary has asked the permission of Great Britain and France to attack the Soviet army. Such an attack would involve permission likewise to recognize the Hungarian army, the demobilization of which was provided for by the Hungarian peace treaty.

Great Forest Game Preserve in Poland Now in Hands of Reds.

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, July 30.—The forest of Bielowiez, the largest wooded tract in Europe, is virtually within the Bolshevik lines, owing to the advance of the Bolsheviks from the northeast. Before the war the forest was the home of thousands of buffaloes and bears, and there were many hunting preserves.

When the Germans came they established a wood alcohol distilling and by-products plant and factories for wooden shoes and other woodwork. They built a town, and which centered upon an American electric light and power plant transported from Antwerp. The plant was the property of the Western Electric Co. of Chicago and weighed 30 tons. Recently it was returned to Antwerp after a month's work.

Reds Trying to Take Lemberg Before Truce Begins.

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, July 30.—Fighting appears to have eased up on the northern front. In the center there are sporadic actions, with withdrawing Poles keeping in contact with their right and left wings. In the south the battle for possession of Lemberg is impending or already is under way, while in the center the Poles in retreat have not yet reached the ethnographic frontier of Poland toward which the Bolsheviks seemingly are aiming before an armistice is proclaimed.

BOY RAISES CROPS
FOR MONEY TO PAY
WAY TO HIGH SCHOOLJury Refuses to Allow Creditor to Attach Lad's Grain for Father's Debts.

A jury in the county court at Jerseyville, Ill., decided that no levy could be made on a crop belonging to Leonard Belermann to pay debts of his father, August Belermann. John S. Shea, Jersey County orchardist, attempted to collect money on the croping fireman's farm which Shea formerly rented, and had August Belermann manage for him.

Shea claims that he overpaid Belermann, who is now renting the farm, to the amount of $500. Belermann does not deny the debt and filed a schedule of his personal property, which appraisers listed at $380. Under the law, Belermann is allowed a $400 exemption. Then Shea tried to collect on the crops and Belermann went to court to prove that the crops belong to his son, Leonard.

The elder Belermann allowed the son to put in the crops in order to raise money enough to send himself to high school. The jury yesterday held that the crops belonged to the boy.

NEGRO SPEAKS 20 MINUTES TO 2500 BEFORE EXECUTIONMurderer of Aniston, Ala., Conductor Warns Crows of Effects of Whiskey and Carrying Arms.

By the Associated Press.
ANISTON, Ala., July 30.—Before going to his death on the gallows here today for the murder of a street conductor two years ago, Edgar C. Caldwell, a negro, former army sergeant, delivered a 20-minute talk to a crowd of 2500 persons.

Caldwell shot the conductor after an altercation over carfare. A long legal battle marked his efforts to escape the gallows. President Wilson once intervened and asked that the execution be stayed pending an investigation by the Attorney-General of the United States.

The State Supreme Court affirmed the death verdict and then the case was taken to the Federal District Court, which ruled that it was without jurisdiction. The United States Supreme Court affirmed this decision. The President's request never was acted upon.

TURKISH DELEGATION ARRIVES
IN PARIS TO SIGN PEACE TREATYPact Was to Have Been Consummated Thursday, but Strike Delayed Envoys.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 30.—The Turkish delegation which is to sign the peace treaty arrived in Paris this morning.

It was the intention to sign the Turkish peace treaty on Thursday at Sevres, four miles northeast of Versailles, but the Turkish delegates were delayed on the journey from Constantinople, and the ceremony had to be postponed. They found themselves unable to proceed to Paris by way of the railway from Constantia on the Black Sea because of a railway and shipping strike in Rumanian lines. They returned to Constantinople on board a French cruiser and were obliged to choose a different route for the trip to Paris.

25 HURT IN INTERURBAN CRASH

Car Splits Switch and Collides With Another Near Kansas City.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30.—An interurban car bound for Kansas City from St. Joseph split a switch near Darby, Mo., today, crashing into another interurban car on the siding. Twenty-five or thirty passengers are reported injured. None was killed.

The limited car bound for Kansas City had the right of way and was traveling approximately 30 miles an hour, according to passengers. The ends of both cars were telescoped by the impact. A relief car left the scene of the accident brought the injured to Kansas City, where they are being cared for at hospitals.

CHANGED RECORDSAdmitted They Did So at Request of Committeeman, Who Is Deputy Under Circuit Clerk Goldstein.

Conditions which may be expected to prevail in the Circuit Court, if the Courthouse ring of city committeemen is permitted to name the judges through dictating the primary nominations, were illustrated by occurrences of last December at the Courthouse.

It was discovered that deputy sheriffs, at the instance of politicians, were excusing men called for jury service. It is the sole prerogative of judges to grant such excuses. Louis (Tab) Becker, a deputy circuit clerk, who is one of the Goldenstein Courthouse ring of committeemen, was named as having requested the deputy sheriff to take an irregular means of releasing a man from jury service.

Candidates Favored by Ring.

Becker is one of the most active of the Goldenstein ring which is now trying to "put over" the nomination of William H. Killoran, Judge Karl Kimmel and E. G. Ossing at the primary. The candidates endorsed by a majority of the Republican law-yeers who voted in the Bar Association poll are Judges George H. Shields and Hugo Grimm, and Claude O. Peary.

In Judge Grimm's court last December, Deputy Sheriff M. C. Lefman admitted that he had changed the record to make it appear that certain men had not been personally served as jurors, when in fact they had been so served. He said he did this in deference to the wish of certain politicians that their friends should escape jury service, and he named Becker as having made the request in the case which was under inquiry. In that case, Judge Grimm fined the juror $25 for contempt of court, and required him to perform a week's jury service.

Two such cases were shown to have occurred in a single jury panel. Their names appeared on the list as having received "copy service" only from the Sheriff's office. Jury attendance is not compulsory in cases where there has been no personal service by the Sheriff's office.

The Judge summoned into court some of the men reported as having received copy service, and two of them admitted that they had been personally served. One, as stated, was fined $25, the other was fined $10. Sheriff Weinbrener censured the deputy.

Hard to Get Jury Panels.

The easy issuance of excuses from jury service is one of the favorite means used by the Courthouse ring of court clerks, to win personal favor and political support. The tendency of such a practice is to make it hard for a Judge to obtain a suitable jury panel, or to cause men to be retained who have really good excuses, and who should not be required to serve.

Judges Grimm and Ferriss have taken the position that they will not grant excuses from jury service on the request of a court clerk, without personal knowledge that there is a good reason for the excuse. As Grimm is running for re-election at this time, this attitude has caused a fight on him.

No Concern for People.

"The ease with which excuses are granted is the slightest concern for the people of St. Louis. Their concern has been for the attitude of the political organization. What does it mean? They think the committee owns the people? Does the committee presume to contract for the delivery of the people's votes?"

"After one of these conferences the brazen announcement was made that I would not receive more than 2500 votes in this city. By what authority do gentlemen presume to announce my vote in advance? Has it already been determined what the vote of the committee candidates shall be? I warn these gentlemen now that more than 5000 Democratic voters of this city stand ready to cast their votes for me."

"They are sovereign citizens of this great city. They are entitled to have their votes counted as cast and I charge that they shall be counted as cast on election day will be followed with a day of reckoning."

"Let me further warn the gentlemen that if they have started out to have the committee deliver St. Louis, you would better have them do a good job of it."

They would better not let me have any votes at all. I am going to cross the city limits with at least 35,000 votes to spare.

"Pussyfooters."

Declaring that every candidate should say exactly where he stands on all public questions, he said that this was no time for "pussyfooters" in the Senate. He said he was inviting the opportunity to defend the League of Nations against the attacks of Senator Reed in the Senate.

"I am against the arbitrament of the sword, great military establishments if possible to avoid them, against secret treaties, international robbery and James A. Reed," Hay concluded. "I am for the arbitration of peaceful means, for the mutual protection, Woodrow Wilson and James M. Cox."

DR. MANNING ISSUED 12,000
DRUG PERMITS IN 7 MONTHSPhysician Convicted Under Narcotic Act Again Arrested and Prescriptions That Had Been Filled Examined.

More than 12,000 prescriptions for morphine and other drugs, issued by Dr. Thomas S. Manning, of 3867 Delmar boulevard, since Jan. 16 last, were scrutinized by narcotic inspectors, and tied up in lots of 100, at the Federal building today.

Dr. Manning was convicted Jan. 16 of conspiracy to violate the Harrison drug act, and was sentenced to two years in prison. He has been at liberty pending his appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and has continued to prescribe for those desiring drugs. The inspectors say he charges $2 for each prescription, having increased the price from $1 since his conviction.

Dr. Manning was arrested on a new charge last night, and spent the night at Police Headquarters, being released on bond this morning.

It is charged that most of the persons for whom Dr. Manning prescribes are addicts to drug habits, and that the prescriptions are made to gratify their craving for the drugs, and not with any view to curing them of the habit.

Of the first 12,000 prescriptions counted, nearly all had been filled by Francis & Brother, druggists, at 1017 North Broadway. Another batch of prescriptions, which had not been ascertained and counted up to that time, was obtained from Charles V. Eckert, who has three stores.

A warrant was issued Tuesday against Eckert, charging him with violating the Harrison act, in filling prescriptions which, it is held, were obviously issued in violation of the act, and that the case will serve as a test, to establish the responsibility of druggists in such cases.

DUBLIN, July 30.—Frank Brooke, one of the most prominent men in Ireland and the closest friend of Viscount French, the Lord Lieutenant, was assassinated by three men at noon today in the directors' room of the Dublin and Southwestern Railway in Westland Row.

Brooke was talking with one of the directors when the assassins entered the room and fired eight shots point blank. Three of the shots hit Brooke. The assassins escaped.

The murder generally is attributed to political motives. Robert Barton, Sinn-Fein member of the House of Commons, was recently sentenced to prison after conviction on a charge that at Shillelagh last year he made threats against Viscount French and Brooke.

Brooke was Deputy Lieutenant for County Wicklow, Leinster Province, and chairman of the Dublin & Southwestern Railway, and had connections with other business and corporate interests in Ireland. Born in 1851, he joined the navy in 1865 and retired in 1877 as a Lieutenant. He was keenly interested in sports and was a steward of the Turf Club. His previous interests in politics had been largely in connection with parliamentary campaigns, as he had twice contested the South Fermanagh seat in the Unionist interest.

Brigadier Captured in June by Sinn Feiners Escapes.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 30.—Brig. Gen. C. H. T. Lucas, commander of Fermanagh military area, who was kidnapped late in June by the Sinn Feiners, has escaped. He reached the Tipperary military barracks today. It is announced in Irish advices received here.

Gen. Lucas was picked up by a military lorry near Oola, between Limerick and Tipperary. The lorry later was ambushed by Sinn Feiners and a desperate struggle ensued in which two soldiers were killed and three others wounded.

On the arrival of a second lorry the raiders decamped, and Gen. Lucas was taken to Tipperary.

Ireland Would Accept Peace on Terms Laid Down by Wilson.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, July 30.—"Permanent peace can be arranged between Ireland and England on the basis of the principles which the President of the United States has laid down in his first condition of peace laid down by President Wilson in a speech in New York on Sept. 27, 1918, on the issues of the great war," said Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, to the Associated Press yesterday in discussing the Freeman's Journal's suggestion that Ireland be ready to accept dominion home rule.

"The military powers of no nation shall be suffered to determine the fortunes of peoples over whom they have no right to rule, except by the right of self-defense."

"Peace on that basis," continued Griffith, "was arranged after a prolonged conflict between Switzerland and France by the treaty of Fribourg, in 1616. That peace has since endured."

CHICAGO, July 30.—Acute depression recurred today in the wheat trade, and more than 12 cents a bushel broke in the exchange July 30. The price of wheat was 12 cents a bushel, and the price of oats was 12 cents a bushel.

At midday, the December delivery had fallen to $2.21 as against $2.34 at yesterday's finish. March dropped 13 1/2 cents to $2.22 1/2.

GREET GOV. COX AT "HOME-COMING"All Dayton Decorated for Non-Partisan Demonstration for Democratic Nominee for President.

By the Associated Press.
DAYTON, O., July 30.—Gov. James M. Cox, Democratic presidential nominee, was to be acclaimed today by residents of Dayton and other portions of the Miami Valley. They joined here by thousands in a non-partisan "home-coming" demonstration to their distinguished native son.

A civic parade at 2:30 in the afternoon was the main feature of the celebration in honor of Gov. Cox. Hours before the parade crowds lined the court of honor, flanked by high, white decorated pillars, and beside all partisan feeling and rejoicing over the honor accorded one of their friends and neighbors.

Speeches were banished from the program and the crowds turned out in response to requests for laying aside all partisan feeling and rejoicing over the honor accorded one of their friends and neighbors.

Half Holiday for Dayton.

For the tribute to the Governor, today was a half holiday throughout virtually all Dayton. Others came from Middletown, Hamilton and other Miami Valley regions, where Gov. Cox lived part of his life.

Elaborate floats were features of the parade, together with the regiments of "Rainbow Division" and Motor bands. The latter, from Piqua, O., became prominent at the San Francisco convention. About 60 floats, representing various civic organizations, some depicting the career of Gov. Cox, were in the parade line.

Assigned a prominent place were the Cox Boosters' Club, which made the trip to San Francisco. The Boosters had vivid uniforms for the occasion. Fraternal organizations, some of which boast Gov. Cox membership, and labor bodies also had positions in the line. So that newspaper employees could march, Gov. Cox's plant issued only an early edition.

Whole City Decorated.

Lavish decorations blazed throughout the city, flags and banners being mingled with lithographs of Gov. Cox, although the likeness of Senator Harding, his Republican opponent, also beamed on the festivities.

Daylight and night fireworks were other features of today's program, with band concerts in several places.

The celebration was the only break scheduled today in the Governor's preparation of his speech of acceptance, which was interrupted briefly yesterday by a visit with Senator Walsh of Massachusetts, who promised his unreserved aid in the Cox campaign.

Disciplinary Action Demanded Against O'Fallon Miners' Local.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 30.—Disciplinary action against the O'Fallon miners' local, whose members accused their State president, Frank Farrington, of conspiracy with coal operators to advance the price of coal was demanded by the State miners' executive board by Farrington yesterday.

"Until they get rid of the officers who have accused me of such a thing, they'll look to this office in vain for favor," said Farrington. He said the O'Fallon local was asking the State organization for $22,000 with which to complete their miners' hall and add sufficient capital to their co-operative store.

"They'll never get it with my consent," he declared. "When that union learns to stand by us and do the right thing, then they may expect good treatment. They need to purge themselves of the almost guilty of that unjust attack."

Daye Wilson, Executive Board member, rose to plead for leniency. He said he agreed that Farrington's name should be cleared of the charge against him, and then added that the damage was not done by a majority in the local but by about 10 per cent of the membership.

Early Settlement Expected.

Both operators and miners look for an early settlement of the strike. Farrington said he believed a settlement not more than two days off. Favorable action by the operators.

BLOCKADE URGED BY BALFOUR AS LEAGUE WEAPON

Economic Barrier Advocated by British Representative for Countries Which Defy Orders of Body.

EIGHTH MEETING OPENS IN SPAIN

Two Dangers Ahead, Englishman Says, Are Those Who Think It Is Useless or a Cure for All Troubles.

By the Associated Press.
SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, July 29.—The opening session of the council of the League of Nations began at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The conference will take up minor, but practical questions, such as making traveling easier in Europe.

The council probably will empower the international transit commission in Paris to settle directly and promptly the differences arising from new passport and customs regulations, which now delay international trains at all frontiers, causing annoyance to the passengers.

The council also will consider whether in view of the heavy expenses and slow work of the Saar commission the total cost should be borne by the Saar population as heretofore. The feeling has been evidenced that France and Germany are most directly interested in the work and should share the expenses between them.

The first public session of the council will be held Tuesday.

Economic Blockade Urged.
"We must have an economic blockade," declared Arthur J. Balfour, British representative on the League of Nations Council, in a talk with newspaper correspondents on the program of the council. He considered the meeting an important one because, among other things, the blockade question was comprised in its agenda.

If an economic blockade was applied to a nation which defied the League, Balfour said, he could not believe that nation would be able to resist for long.

"No nation would destroy itself in these civilized times by inviting such a penalty," he added. "It is not likely it will often be used, since it is not probable the league will often be defied."

Two Dangers Loom.
Balfour gave it as his opinion that the league was suffering from two dangers—one on the one hand from those who thought it was a useless creation, and on the other hand from those who believed that in the league had been found a remedy for all international difficulties. It is nations that are the problems of the world in these early days, before its projects had been ingrained in the people's minds, he asserted, the league could not function properly. It must be given time to develop.

Turning to the And Islands question, over which he said a clash had been averted by Finland and Sweden referring the matter to the league. Balfour said that the league was the real effectiveness of the league for peace. But he declared, behind discussions in such a case there must be stronger sanctions and these were contemplated by the league.

Character Is Urged.
The significance of holding the council meeting in a neutral country was dwelt upon by the speaker. He expressed satisfaction also that Count Quinones de Leon, Spanish ambassador to France, was to preside, "because the services rendered the league by this neutral member are well known."

Addressing the Spanish press representatives especially, Balfour stated he was glad the meeting was being held in Spain, since it emphasized the universal character of the league.

"It would have been a fatal mistake had the allies forgotten the universal character of the body," he continued. "It must have been equally important for all countries to see that not only neutrals, but enemy states can belong to it as well as the allies. Those who fail to realize this fact miss the importance of the whole movement. If the hopes of the world are to be realized the whole world must co-operate."

Meeting Declared Important.
Balfour said he considered this meeting of the council of full import, not only for the foregoing reason, but on account of the League of Nations being the question of blockade, to which he attributes great importance. The league could not expect to work with rapidity and effectiveness, he declared, because its main weapon must be public opinion. What had already been gained, Balfour added, was that the Powers were brought to lay their case before the council, which would discuss them as an impartial tribunal. Balfour pointed out that this made for delay, rendering war less possible.

Boy Drowned in Gravel Pit.
VINNENES, Ind., July 29.—Clarence Leman Emmens, 19 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Emmens of Lawrenceville, just west of here, was drowned when wading at the edge of a gravel pit near his home. The boy, with several other boys, had gone to the pit to play. His body was recovered eight minutes later.

COAL SUPPLY FOR FEW DAYS ASSURED PUBLIC UTILITIES; INDUSTRIES PRESENT PLEAS

Committee Promises Aid to Some Plants and Rejects Appeals of Others—Body Meets With Co-Operation.

An order was issued from police headquarters this afternoon, at the request of the Emergency Coal Commission, directing policemen to stop all deliveries of coal not going to essential industries. The policemen were instructed to look the booklets particularly for loads of coal delivered at apartment houses and residences, and to see that it is not unloaded.

The St. Louis coal supply, under the regulation of the Coal Committee, because of the shortage brought about by the mine strikes, will be adequate for a few days at least for the public utilities and other essential unless some unlooked-for condition develops. This was the statement this morning of E. J. Wallace, chairman of the committee.

The Evans & Howard Fire Brick Co., operating large factories here, will close at 5 o'clock this afternoon, unless coal is supplied. It. G. Mulderig reported at 11 a. m. that the Coal Committee said it would inform him later what could be done.

Mulderig said a great financial loss would be suffered by the shuttering of the large quantity of material in process of manufacture. He said that four 50-ton kilns and two 15-ton kilns have been "starved" for coal for 45 days. The plant requires 650 to 700 tons a week.

The Waldeck Packing Co. has closed on account of lack of coal. The Heli Packing Co. reported that on watch for coal delivered within 24 hours unless it receives coal. The Swift and St. Louis packing companies said that they had a four-day supply, while the Independent Packing Co. estimated it had enough for two days.

Old Plants Short.
The St. Louis Refrigeration and Cold Storage Co., which pipes refrigeration to downtown restaurants, reported that it requires two cars of coal a day and that its supply was very low. The Herf & Frerichs ammonia Co., manufacturers of ammonia for ice plants, stated that it would close tonight unless it received coal. A car was allotted to it.

Two men will be dispatched at once to the Kentucky coal fields to determine the possibility of the city receiving coal from that source. In the event coal is obtainable there, it will be bought by the city and apportioned as the need arises to utilities and essential industries. (A method of prevention of delivery of coal to private individuals has been devised. Duplicate sets of numbers will be issued to dealers. The drive for coal will be given one of these numbers to and to the consignee, the dealer retaining the duplicate. An inspector will collect the numbers the following day, after which the city will determine that the dealer delivered to the person authorized to receive coal.

The Chief of Police has been requested to instruct patrolmen to be on watch for coal delivered to apartment houses or residences.

Wallace announced that the co-operation of the committee received yesterday, the first day of its work, was better than expected. "The drive for coal," he said, "will be especially helpful."

He said. No consignees of coal were asked to allow diversion of their supplies in transit to more essential plants. This afforded a check to deliver seven cars of coal to essentials. These cars had been held in the yards.

The committee met at 10 o'clock this morning with a number of mine operators in the Illinois fields adjacent to the city. The meeting, which was held in the office of the Board of Public Service in the city hall, was for the purpose of getting the aid of the operators in increasing the city's coal supply.

Will Ask for Preference.
"We will ask of the operators for preference of coal at the mines," Wallace said. "We cannot ask the mines to break existing contracts with distant consumers, but we will request that the distant buyers under contract be denied their supply while St. Louis essentials need coal so badly."

Among the large mines operating in the East, which the committee asked to be represented at the meeting this morning are the Kolb Co., which is owned by Harry Troll; the Meteor Coal Co., which handles the output of the Pocahontas mines owned by Otto Sifuel; and the Miller Coal & Coke Co. These companies have mines which are still operating.

A large gathering of representatives of various industries, essential and otherwise, appeared at the committee room this morning to present their plea for help. In the cases of some essentials immediate relief was extended, others were told to present further figures on their needs, and some were denied.

Need 152 Tons Daily.
The Associated Laundry Owners, composed of 45 laundries, with combined coal consumption of 152 tons daily, were represented by their general secretary, Hollis E. Suits, who urged that they be given the laundries as essential plants. He said members of the association have supplies of from one day to two weeks on hand. Chairman Wallace suggested that a complete schedule of the laundry coal requirements be presented.

Laundries have been placed by the committee in a semi-essential class. For purposes of the league are ranked in class B, with hotels and restaurants. Food plants and public utilities are in class A. The St. Charles Waterworks has coal for last night tomorrow night only. The water supply of St. Charles will cease tomorrow night unless a supply of coal is obtained, Henry W.

representative, W. A. Hulihan, told the committee. This is equivalent to a three days' supply and the plant has a 10 days' surplus. Hulihan said that orders from the packing company headquarters are to shut the plant down when the surplus is reduced to enough for six days. The committee will try to move the 10 cars to the plant.

The St. Louis Independent Packing Co. has 10 cars in transit, which will be necessary to avoid a shut-down of their ice and refrigerating plants, according to a letter from J. C. Kueker. The committee will endeavor to move these cars.

Help was also promised the Winkler Terra Cotta Co., which has two cars of coal on a siding near its plant at Cheltenham. A great loss is predicted if this coal is not delivered to keep the kiln fires burning.

H. W. Reck, secretary of the Cuyler Station Light, Heat & Power Co., said that his company would be delivered to it. The consumption is two cars daily.

The Traffic Motor Truck Corporation, which employs 1200 men, will shut down very soon, W. C. Sandberg, its director of materials, told the committee, unless help is given. Sandberg said the factory is 700 trucks behind its orders, some of which are for meat and coal companies. The plant is not in the list of prime essentials.

A car of coal was sent to the Independent Ice and Coal Co. at Menard, St. Louis County, yesterday for distribution by it to several private sanitariums and an orphan asylum in the county, which were in need of fuel. Coal was also ordered sent to the St. Louis County Ice and Fuel Co. for ice-making purposes.

In Order to prevent spoiling a large quantity of brick now in the kilns of the Enterprise Brick Co., the committee allowed $5 car of coal to go to this company, with the warning that no further allowance would be made. Had the fires gone out, the batch of bricks would have spoiled.

Various shutdowns of industrial plants reached the committee. The Brown Shoe Co. factory at Murphy, Mo., was closed last night for lack of fuel, and it is said other shoe factories may have to close. The Provident Chemical Co. shut down its plant, with the exception of a section manufacturing phosphate for food products.

Bureau Backs Committee.
The Coal Service Bureau, which was instituted by six agencies of the city, met at the Equitable Building yesterday and voted unanimously in support of the committee.

The bureau's membership of 32 represents a large portion of the retail coal business here. Small consumers will continue to order from dealers, who may refer orders to the Coal Committee while coal consumers will deal directly with the committee.

The survey of industrial plants to learn their needs and supplies of coal, being made by six agencies of the Department of Public Utilities began yesterday afternoon, and the surveyors will report daily to the committee.

The Coal Committee will meet this morning in the City Hall at 10 a. m. in room 208. Coal consumers may meet the committee then. In emergencies, when coal must be obtained quickly, essential coal consumers may call on the committee. Wallace at his office, room 421 Pierce Building. Telephones at his office are listed under his name.

East St. Louis Considers Setting Up Coal Committee.
Representatives of the City of East St. Louis and the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce today conferred on the proposal to establish for East St. Louis a coal committee, similar to that established in St. Louis, for the allotment of coal to public utilities and food industries in the East St. Louis district. The committee was appointed to meet at 10 a. m. at the Chamber of Commerce, and it was agreed that such a committee would be appointed if the need increased.

J. N. Flinn, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that it was proposed that no coal should go through East St. Louis until all essential industries of the East St. Louis industrial district are supplied.

Charles Horner, superintendent of the water company, says the present supply of coal will be exhausted by Monday, but he has been assured of four cars of coal by then. C. H. Quackenbush, manager of the St. Clair County Gas Co., says the supply will be exhausted tomorrow, but he has been assured of the delivery of some coal tomorrow. W. H. Sawyer, president of the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, and the East St. Louis Light & Power Co. said that day that operation on the present basis cannot be maintained longer than Monday, unless additional coal is received.

CATHOLIC BODY CONSIDERS ACTION TO OFFSET I. V. L. GAMBLING 'TRUST'

Committee Appointed by Federation Meets to Discuss Advisability of Definite Program.

PLAN REPUDIATION BY CANDIDATES

Speakers at Meeting Assail Organization for Trying to Inject Religion Into Politics.

The advisability of taking specific action in rebuttal of the political activities of the Independent Voters' League and other anti-Catholic political propaganda was discussed at a meeting today of a committee representing the St. Louis Federation of Catholic Societies. The meeting was held in the office of Attorney Alphonse E. Ganahl, state president of the Catholic Knights of America, in the La Salle Building.

The committee was appointed last night at St. Anthony's Parochial School Hall, 3200 Meramec street, at a meeting attended by 125 delegates from various Catholic local organizations, representing a total membership said to approximate 100,000. The meeting was presided over by Attorney Edward V. P. Schneiderhahn, chairman of the federation's morals committee.

Schneiderhahn recommended the formation of a committee to interview candidates endorsed by the I. V. L. and ascertain if they will repudiate the endorsement, and to repudiate the endorsement, and to inject religion into politics which candidates are willingly accepting the support of the I. V. L.

Committee Appointed.
John Paul, chief editor of the Church Progress, a Catholic weekly publication, and chairman of the federation, and Ganahl and Schneiderhahn were selected to serve on the committee, which met today for the purpose of arranging a plan of action. Schneiderhahn was excused from serving on the committee on his plea that he was too busy, and the subject was named by the committee today.

In denouncing the activity of the I. V. L., Schneiderhahn said last night to it as "that contemptible organization." He said that by attempting to defeat men for public office regardless of their qualifications merely because of their religious beliefs, the I. V. L. is "not only a bad influence, but a bad influence."

"and not a league. It is a holdup proposition, a subscription shake-down organization that carries religion into politics for its own financial gain," he said. "It is a bad influence, and it is a bad influence."

"Some of the men who were listed as having signed these ballots since have said, according to newspaper reports, that they did not authorize the use of their names and are disgusted by the I. V. L. ballot."

Opposed Candidates in 1916.
The federation four years ago opposed the political work of the I. V. L. and several candidates at that time repudiated the endorsement of the organization.

A committee was appointed last night to interview Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co. regarding a statement attributed to him in an interview in which it was urged that America cancel debts owed by the allies. Thomas Dunne, president of the St. Theresa's Parish, said that the Mercantile Trust Co. is a depository of the funds of the St. Louis archdiocese.

James L. Minnis today issued the following statement: "My attention has been called to the so-called 'I. V. L.' ballot on which I am endorsed for United States Senator. I did not contribute to such an organization. I did not seek and am not responsible for such an endorsement in any way. I am positively and emphatically opposed to carrying religion into politics, and repudiate the stirring up of religious prejudice in my behalf as absolutely opposed to my own belief and principles."

Oleik, superintendent of the water works, announced today. The water works requires two cars of coal a day and had about three carloads this morning. Oleik appealed to the committee for help. He said the water supply would be depleted if coal was not obtained, but they replied that they were powerless to help. An appeal to the American Car and Foundry Co. St. Charles plant for coal is being considered. Manager James G. Lawler said the plant has a two-week supply. Advisers of the St. Louis Coal Committee have reported the plant has a large surplus.

The plant of the International Shoe Co. at St. Charles reported a surplus sufficient for five weeks. Both breweries at St. Charles have assured coal for the coming week, but they are making only beer to make beverages during the shortage. They have about enough coal for four days each.

THREE QUESTIONED BY GRAND JURY ON GAMBLING 'TRUST'

Tony Foley, Alleged Operator of Game at Campbell's Forest Home, Fails to Appear.

12 WITNESSES TO BE CALLED IN INQUIRY

Foley, Said to Have Operated Under Protection, Has Been Seen Frequently at County Political Meetings.

Frank (Tex) Livingston, Albert Renkel and Charles (Chuck) Boencke, said to be associated with A. T. (Tony) Foley in the operation of dice games and other forms of gambling at Campbell's Forest Home on the Clayton road, appeared before the special grand jury at Clayton today in connection with the investigation ordered by the Circuit Court of alleged activities of a gambling "trust."

Foley did not appear, and Sheriff Bopp, who had been instructed to subpoena him, reported that despite having been informed that Foley had left the State, Foley was to have been one of the principal witnesses in the investigation, which is being conducted by Assistant Attorney-General Henry B. Hunt, who was detailed here by Attorney-General McAllister.

It was reported at Clayton today that Foley had gone to Gasconade County on a fishing trip with Mark Gumpert, proprietor of Fauna Flora, a St. Louis County resort, and John Cafarella, proprietor of the cafe at 2901 Delmar boulevard.

Foley had been seen at several political meetings in St. Louis County recently. He was said to have been at Overland Park several nights ago when A. E. L. Gardner and Fred Eason, opponents for the Republican nomination for State Senator, were nominated from coming to blows by friends. Eason is reported to be the political boss of St. Louis County. Foley is said to be one of Eason's supporters.

About 12 witnesses have been ordered to appear before the grand jury in connection with the inquiry into gambling conditions. Another matter to be investigated is the manner in which the coming primary is being handled.

Among the witnesses summoned in the individual inquiry were the following named Republican judges of election: William Dreinhoffer, Old Orchard; John Mound, Valley Park; Joseph Butts and Henry Thielen, when A. E. L. Gardner was elected; Kirkwood, who changed of vote in the courtroom, were drafted by Judge Wurdeman.

OPERATORS REFUSE TO CONFER WITH STRIKING MINERS

Scale Committee on the demand of the strike men is expected. Springfield and Lincoln both showed the result of coal shortage last night. There were no street lights in either city. Lincoln street car service was greatly curtailed. Unless coal is furnished in the next two days, it was announced, the Lincoln water, light and gas plant will be closed.

80,000 Striking Miners Paid; Some Are Penalized.
By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 29.—Eighty thousand striking miners in Illinois drew two weeks' pay today. Some of them were penalized as much as $14 each because of the strike being called by the union. The penalty would not be imposed until the next pay.

Effect of this fine, which by the joint agreement is divided between the individual operators and the operators' association, is prohibitional. Operators here said it made some miners angry, but led some others whose finances are running short to show dissatisfaction with a long drawn-out strike. The fine is $1 for the first day of the strike and $1 for each additional day.

Manager Hatch of the Union Fuel Co., which operates six mines, withheld $9 from each miner. From the attitude of the miners he declared his belief that the miners will resume work Monday pending a settlement.

It was never so low in Central Illinois as now, operators declared. Industries and State institutions generally are at the edge of their coal supply.

It was reported that a carload of coal had been taken from a railroad for use at the Alton State Hospital. Answering Gov. Lowden's request that the Peoria mine, northeast of Springfield, be put to work, President Farrington passed on the appeal to the local union. "Dig coal just for State institutions," was the Governor's request. The miners' party, starting to comply, apportioned the coal to the military camp at the mine. They demanded that they be permitted to work at the increased pay for shift men, and free of the penalty. Manager Demery of the mine responded that they would go back to the old wage and under penalty or not at all. The men went home.

THREE SEATS IN SUPREME COURT TO BE FILLED AUG. 3

Party Nominees to Be Selected at Primary to Succeed Judges Bond, Faris and Williams.

Party nominees for three seats in the Missouri Supreme Court are to be chosen at the primary Aug. 3, two for two years each to fill the unexpired terms of the late Judge Henry Bond and of Judge C. B. Faris, who resigned to become United States District Judge in St. Louis, and one for a full term of 10 years, the term of Judge Fred L. Williams having expired.

Judge Williams is unopposed for the Democratic nomination for the full term. There are three candidates for the Republican nomination—Commissioner David E. Blair of the Missouri Public Service Commission, who resides in Joplin; Probate Judge Sam D. Hordner of Webster Groves and Circuit Judge Arch B. Davis of Chillicothe.

Blair and Davis have had experience on the bench. Blair prior to his appointment to the Public Service Commission having been Circuit Judge in Jasper County, and Davis having been Circuit Judge in the Thirty-sixth Circuit for 11 years. Prior to going on the bench they had been practicing attorneys of more than local prominence. Hordner has been Probate Judge of St. Louis County six years, was City Attorney of Webster Groves 10 years and Assistant Prosecuting Attorney in St. Louis four years. He is not widely known outside of political circles in St. Louis County.

Two After Bond's Place.
For the unexpired term of the late Judge Bond in Division 1 of the court, there are two candidates for the Democratic nomination, William T. Ragland of Paris, now a Supreme Court Commissioner, and John M. Dawson of Kahoka, and two for the Republican nomination, State Senator Conway Elder of St. Louis and North T. Gentry of Columbia.

Ragland has had 19 years' experience on the bench, having been Circuit Judge in the Tenth Circuit before being appointed to the Supreme Court Commission last year. His duties as commissioner are virtually the same as those of a Supreme Judge. Dawson has practiced law in Northeast Missouri for many years. In 1914 he sought the Democratic nomination for United States Senator against Senator Stone but was defeated, receiving only 19,976 votes in the primary, while Stone received 134,730.

Elder has been a State Senator six years, his service in the Senate being noted particularly for his regularity in standing with Senator Gardner of St. Louis County in opposing the more progressive measures before the Legislature. He was defeated for the nomination for Attorney-General four years ago. Gentry is a lawyer of high standing in Central Missouri. He was an Assistant Attorney-General under Gov. Hadley, appearing in many of the more important cases before the Supreme Court. Gentry is being supported by leading lawyers throughout the State and by many of the prominent Republicans and politicians, who take the position that in selecting a candidate for Supreme Judge legal experience of the candidate should count for more than partisan political experience.

Williamson Is Unopposed.
For the unexpired term of Judge Faris in Division 2, Judge John I. Williamson of Kansas City, who is holding the seat under temporary appointment until the November election, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. There are three candidates for the Republican nomination—Charles C. Madison and Denton Dunn of Kansas City and Edward Higbee of Kirksville. Madison and Higbee have been more or less active in Republican politics, but are determined to capture Leavenworth and extensive outside of Kansas City. Madison has taken a somewhat active part in the opposition to the Marks-Dickey "machine" in Kansas City, and is a lawyer of standing. Higbee was the Republican nominee to fill an unexpired term on the court in 1916, but was defeated in the election by Judge Williams.

GIRL FOLLOWS YOUTHS AFTER LIQUOR THEFT
Sees Them Enter Saloon and Man, Who Figured in Another Holdup, Is Arrested.

When Theresa Slaton, 12 years old, and her sister, Helen, 14, daughters of Walter Slaton of 2901 Cass avenue, and his wife, who had gone on a fishing trip, were alone in their home yesterday afternoon, two young men of the neighborhood entered the house and warned the girls to be quiet while they stole liquor from the place. One of the youths is 13 and the other 20.

"Now, listen, girls, run along and tend to your own business," one of the boys said. "If you don't, we'll shoot you." They displayed no weapons. They went directly to the cellar and soon departed, carrying four five-gallon jugs of whisky belonging to Slaton, and valued at $400.

Helen followed them and told a policeman she saw them enter a soft drink saloon at 1441 North Twenty-first street, which the police say is conducted by Julius Rajewski, 22, and Frank Floryuski, 14, who live at the same address. Rajewski and Floryuski were arrested when the police found a jug of whisky in the place which Helen identified as one of those stolen. Floryuski, who he bought it a week ago for $50. The two men are being held at the Carr street station for the Federal authorities, while search is made for the two youths, whose names were supplied by the girls.

Rajewski was in the office of the Bourbon Mercantile Co., 298 Walnut street, Tuesday, when five men held up him and the clerk and carried away three barrels of wine in a truck. Rajewski also was bound and robbed of $12.

VICE ADMIRAL NAPIER DIES
British Commander Succumbs to Fever in Hamilton, Bermuda.

By the Associated Press.
HAMILTON, Bermuda, July 29.—Vice Admiral Sir Evelyn D. W. Napier, commander in chief of the British North American and West Indies Naval Station, died at 2:30 o'clock this morning at the Admiralty House here. Death was due to enteric fever. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

Vice Admiral Napier was appointed to the command of the North American and West Indies station in November of last year. He was in command of light cruiser squadrons early in the European war, and was Vice Admiral with the light cruiser force from 1917 to 1919. He was mentioned in dispatches for his part in the battle of Jutland. Vice Admiral Napier was 53 years old. He was in this country for a brief time early in the present year.

PEACE PROCLAMATION SUIT IS DISMISSED

Attorney to Appeal Case Direct to the U. S. Supreme Court.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—Chief Justice McCooy of the District of Columbia Supreme Court yesterday dismissed the petition for mandamus to compel Secretary of State Clegg to promulgate the congressional peace resolution voted by President Wilson and declare the United States at peace with Germany and Austria.

Harry S. McCartney, an attorney of Chicago, who filed the appeal, announced his intention of seeking writs of certiorari from the United States Supreme Court to test the action of the district appellate tribunal.

Waiving the point of absence of formal demand as pointed out by the Court, Government attorneys called the attention of the court to the action of the revised statutes of the United States in which it is set forth the power of the Secretary of State over the laws as passed by Congress. The attorneys asserted that the Secretary may declare as laws only and acts of Congress as laws only and the approval of the President or had been sent to the Secretary by the President of the Senate or the Speaker of the House, depending on which body was the last to pass the act over the veto.

As the peace resolution, after being vetoed by President Wilson, failed of re-enactment in the House, the Government contended the peace resolution never reached Clegg and a mandamus to compel him to promulgate something which he has never received would be vain and useless.

ARMISTICE BETWEEN POLES AND BOLSHIEVICS IS TO BEGIN TONIGHT

Believe the Bolsheviks are striking with all available forces to wrest Lemberg from Polish hands before hostilities cease, should there be an agreement at the Baranovitch meeting, it is determined tonight. From intercepted wireless message and other sources it is pretty well understood in Polish military circles that the Bolsheviks intend to spar for time at Baranovitch. According to some reports, the Reds have set Aug. 4 as the earliest date on which they are willing to cease hostilities. It is considered apparent that they are determined to capture Lemberg as a prize of the last days of battle.

Refugees and others who have arrived at Lemberg say the Bolsheviks have reached Eastern Galicia already have suitcases packed, and Bolshevik arms all males from 16 to 50 years of age within the invaded territory.

The Poles are determined to defend Lemberg to the last.

ALLIES Query U. S. on Willingness to Negotiate With Reds.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—Informal inquiries have been addressed to the United States by diplomatic representatives of the allies to ascertain this Government's willingness to enter into the proposed peace conference with Soviet Russia.

No formal invitation, however, it was said yesterday at the State Department, has been received yet. It is thought by officials here that a request of the council of the United States is expected to be forthcoming.

LLOYD GEORGE TO TAKE REST
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, July 29.—Prime Minister Lloyd George is going to Switzerland for a complete rest from international politics, which he has had an overwork. How he will achieve his purpose, with the Supreme Economic Council sitting at Geneva and the Congress of the League of Nations in session at Zurich, isn't easy to see.

He greatly resents the stories that his health is failing, and since they have been circulated he has shown increased activity, actually going to the length of appearing in the House of Commons to answer questions.

THREE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH
By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—Two men and a woman were killed and another woman seriously injured early today when their automobile ran into a building, rebounded against a freight car, and then struck a pole and overturned. The collision with the pole smashed the car, the building, and the car was traveling at high rate of speed when the driver lost control.

PONZI RAPIDLY SATISFYING ALL CLIENTS' DEMANDS

Line of Customers Waiting Money Back in Boston International Coupon Scheme Growing Smaller.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, July 29.—Charles Ponzi, who claims to have a million within a few months, has paid to the public profits on their investments deal in international exchange, prepared today almost to have the question among his investors as to his solvency. Only a short time before the payment of the Ponzi office this morning when disbursement was reduced, said they were paid nearly as much on notes maturing the 50 per cent profit in 45 as they were returning to investors in principal with interest on notes surrendered of maturity.

The amount paid out by since the run began Monday estimated by his manager, Lester Moll, at $1,500,000. "I have twice as much more, or right here in Boston as Ponzi, as there is no need of any more nervousness," he added.

Landed in Half.
Ponzi a few days ago announced that his liabilities were about 900,000, indicating that public investors in his scheme had been reduced to half, with their receipts stopped by his agreement with the authorities to no more funds until investigation accounts is completed.

His money, however, was covered. Miss Moll said, meant money in the already bulging accounts of Ponzi, as unmaturing notes only on the basis actual investigation.

"Their money has been in for all this time and Ponzi can keep the 50 per cent which with the interest on the notes will really be a profit. You will realize $1,000,000 when you know that $1,000,000, which we have paid has been on unmat

Manager Says Payments on Unmatured Notes Mean
Big Profits for Promoter—
His Scheme Secret.

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, July 30.—Charles J.
Ponzi, who claims to have amassed millions within a few months, and who has paid to the public large profits on their investments in his deal in international exchange, appeared today almost to have satisfied question among his investors as to the solvency. Only a short line formed before the payment window of the Ponzi office this morning and when disbursement was resumed clerks said they were paying off nearly as much on notes matured for the 50 per cent profit in 45 days as they were returning to frightened investors in principal without interest on notes surrendered short of maturity.

The amount paid out by Ponzi since the run began Monday was estimated by his manager, Miss Lacy, at $1,500,000. "And we have twice as much more money right here in Boston as Ponzi owes, so there is no need of anyone being nervous," she added. "We have liabilities cut in half."

Ponzi a few days ago announced that his liabilities were about $2-$3,000,000, indicating that public participation in his schemes already has been reduced by one half, with further receipts stopped by his agreement with the authorities to accept no more funds until investigation of his accounts is completed.

The run of frightened investors to cover, Miss Lacy said, meant more money in the already bulging pocket of Ponzi, as unmatured notes were being cashed only on the basis of the actual investment.

Lacy had spoken for Mayer, who was not in St. Louis. Farris had been speaking at other meetings and it was nearly 10:30 p. m. when he reached the picnic, being called upon to speak soon afterward.

He had proceeded uneventfully until he asserted that "public service corporation has contributed to my campaign fund and no public service corporation lawyer is backing my St. Louis headquarters. What about that?" he asked. "If Mr. Lacy is here let him speak."

Lacy, from the rear fringe of the crowd, lifted one hand and replied that he would answer when Farris got through. Farris then said that the public service corporations here are for Judge Mayer, whereupon R. A. Crabb, who after the meeting said he was going to the Laclede Gas Light Co. jumped up and yelled, "That's a lie" Farris wanted to know who he represented, but got no satisfaction, for about that time another heckler began to make unintelligible remarks in a loud tone.

THEFTS FROM FLOWER GARDENS
AT FOUR HOMES REPORTED

Plants, Jardeners and Sprinklers Taken on Oakley Place and Woodland Avenue.

The flower gardens of four residents of Oakley place and Woodland avenue were reported to have been supplied to thieves who were supposed to have passed along the two streets in a wagon or automobile yesterday while the families were absent.

DEPUTY KILLED, TWO BANK
ROBBERS SHOT IN FIGHT

Five of Men Alleged to Have Held Up Michigan Institution Captured With Money.

JACKSON, Mich., July 30.—Deputy Sheriff Harry Worden was instantly killed, Deputy Sheriff Kutt was wounded and two alleged robbers were shot in a fight last yesterday between Sheriff's officers and a gang of robbers who held up and robbed the Farmers' State Bank at Grass Lake.

15 PRISONERS, ALL SHACKLED, ESCAPE IN KANSAS CITY

They Hobbled for Hours Across Fields
After Overpowering Guards on Municipal Farm.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30.— Seventeen prisoners of the municipal farm, all shackled, overpowered the guards yesterday, hobbled for hours across fields, taking the captive guards with them and reached a little railway station. Fifteen of the 17 succeeded in prying the irons from their legs, and the guards were shackled and left.

Last night two of the escaped prisoners, who had not succeeded in loosening their leg irons, were recaptured.

Big Game Hunter Tells How
He Made 'Movies' of Bears

Edwin H. Steedman, Who Spent Six Weeks in Wilds of Alaska, Says Photographing Is Greater Sport Than Killing.

The thrilling sport of wild game photography and his experiences in making moving pictures of bears in Alaska, were discussed today by Edwin H. Steedman of 5394 Waterman avenue, who came home Tuesday after a hunting and photographing expedition.

Steedman and his wife, Dr. Borden
S. Veeder of the University Club and Edward Mallinkrodt Jr. of 14 West moreland place were the members of a hunting party which spent six weeks recently in the Alaskan peninsula pursuing the Kodiak, or great Alaskan brown bear, the largest bear known. How the party, including the guides, killed 10 bears, two less than the law allowed them, was related in an exclusive interview with Dr. Veeder published in the Post-Dispatch, July 29.

Mrs. Steedman and Dr. Veeder returned to St. Louis July 5, but Steedman and Mallinkrodt stayed behind for a further inquiry into the bear from June 25, after the others had left, until July 8, they camped together on the lower end of the peninsula, which is about 40 miles wide and not far from the Canadian border in latitude. The country is mountainous and sparsely scrubbed.
There are no trees, but many scrubby alder bushes.

There are a few bleak tundras and a hard wind blows almost constantly. The atmosphere is cold and foggy and frequently the valleys are inclosed by a dome of fog perhaps 1000 feet above the land.

Steedman and Mallinkrodt, on their expeditions with the camera, went out in different directions each day, although at night they camped together on the shore, where they kept a motor launch. Each man would take one guide with him. The Kodiak bears were the only subjects they sought to photograph.

As described by Steedman, the process of getting photographs of the bears was one of outguessing the animals, having the camera ready guaranteed for action before the bears became aware of their pursuers. No more than two men could approach a bear without giving warning.

Approaching the bear as possible toward the lair of a bear, the photographer would creep flat on the ground. In one hand would be the camera. A short distance toward the bear, the guide would bear his own rifle and that of the photographer, both ready for quick use. A little "blind" would be prepared for the camera, and then the waiter would wait for that duck-shooting.

"We would figure that bear is bound to come directly in front of the lens," said Steedman, "and then a little noise would send the bear off in the other direction and the photographer would go back to camp, dry his clothes, talk it over and rest in preparation for the next day."

None Attacked by Bears.

"None of us were seriously menaced by attacks of bears, either while photographing or shooting them.
However, hunting the brown bear,
and especially, photographing him,
is a dangerous sport and the photographer must at all times be guarded by an expert hunter who is a dead shot. The intentions of bears can never be trusted."

Both Mallinkrodt and Steedman experienced the excitement of having large bears stand up on their hind legs to look them over at distances as short as 50 feet. There are numerous authentic instances every year of hunters and prospectors being badly mangled or even killed by Kodiak bears.

Steedman used a very small moving picture camera on a light tripod.
The camera required film one-quarter the size of the ordinary motion picture film, each exposure of which measures about 1 1/2 x 1 1/4 inches. A bulb camera would have been virtually impossible to carry and set up. The pictures will be suitable for projection on a screen about the size of a newspaper spread out.

Mallinkrodt used a large folding camera with exceptional lens and shutter equipment. Steedman's lens was of speed f 3.5 and Mallinkrodt's about a 4.5. These were used "wide open" always, and the light was poor. During the stay of the party it was estimated there was a total of only about 48 hours of sunlight.

Furthermore, because of the habits of the bear, most of the pictures were made after 6 o'clock in the evening. On the trip Steedman succeeded in getting photographs of six bears and Mallinkrodt of six or eight.

Besides the Kodiak bear, the only game is caribou, which are very numerous. Steedman and Mallinkrodt did not attempt to photograph these.
"They are just like the reindeer of Northern Alaska and of Newfoundland," Steedman said.

"The sport of killing big game and should be a thing of the past.
Modern rifles and methods of hunting make stalking game with the attention to kill too much of a sure thing."

"Men are going into the game countries now just to observe the habits of game for their own benefit, not to study the game, scientifically, and they are taking pictures of game, which is as fascinating as killing, and sometimes requires even greater skill."

"You can kill a bear or other game animal after he has seen you, and you might take a 'still' picture of him. However, when you are taking a big animal with a moving picture camera, you have to be all set up and ready to 'shoot' before he discovers your presence. The charm of the sport, then, is in out-guessing the animal."

Mrs. Steedman went to Wequetonsing, Mich., after her return, and Steedman visited her there on his way home. Mallinkrodt returned about a week ago, having seen East first. Skins of a number of bears killed by the party have been sent to a taxidermist for treatment and will arrive here soon.

PASSENGERS SOUGHT IN TROLLEY-AUTO WRECK

Inquest Into Death of Four Victims of East Side Crash to Be Resumed Tonight.

It was disclosed last night at an inquest in Granite City, Ill., that two passengers were aboard the Alton, Granite & St. Louis Traction Co. car which early Tuesday struck an automobile at Maryville, crossing, near Mitchell, killing four persons.
The car crew previously had stated no passengers were in the car at the time of the accident.

Coroner Krill made an effort to learn the identity of the passengers, but the car crew said that they had been advised by the traction company not to disclose who the passengers were.

Objector Is Ousted.
During the Coroner's questioning of Mortimer Cook and Conductor Curry, a man attending the inquest made repeated objections. He was told several times by the coroner to cease his questions, but continued until the Coroner ordered him from the room. He went as far as the door and then began a further argument with the Coroner, whereupon Krill shoved him through the door and closed it.

The Coroner afterward was informed that the man was Trevor C.
Nelson, an attorney for the traction company. The inquest was adjourned until tonight. Meanwhile the Coroner is seeking to establish the identity of the passengers to inquire from them whether the story of the accident as related by the car crew is correct. Mortimer Cook testified that the automobile stopped a short distance from the track at the approach of the car, then started again and was struck as it reached the tracks.

3000 Attend Funeral.
The funeral of Edward Jansen, 55 years old, driver of the car, was held yesterday at his home, near Nameoki, Ill. It was attended by about 3000 persons.
The three passengers in the automobile, who were killed, have been identified as Noah S. Clark, 21; Frank Craig, 17, and Harry Stroud, 20, of Lenox, Mo.

Policeman Empties Revolver After Auto Tire Thief.

The performance at the Municipal Theater in Forest Park was enlivened last night by a series of shots fired by Patrolman Breenahan, who was on watch just outside the theater.

The policeman reported he had seen a thief attempt to steal a tire from the rear of the automobile of Bert Mooney, 4547 Delmar, Souleyard. The man fled when Breenahan tried to creep up on him and the policeman emptied his revolver. The man escaped.

FIRST ENTRY RECEIVED FOR PULITZER RACE

Rules Permitting Aviators to Choose Flying Days Will Make Contest Unique.

By Leased Wire From the New York
Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The first application for entry into the trans-continental airplane race for the Pulitzer trophy arrived yesterday at the Aero Club of America. Arthur O. Price of Ellenville, N. Y., a sportsman aviator, telegraphed the club his intention to enter the race and asked for particulars.

Maj. Charles J. Glidden, chairman of the contest board, last night telegraphed his congratulations to Price for being the first entrant, and said the rules governing the contest would be made public next week. It was announced last night that a meeting of the contest board had been called for next Monday to plan the race. "The Board of Governors of the Aero Club have already decided that this race is not in any sense to be a Marathon contest," said Maj. Glidden. "Marathons in the air entail loss of life and mean a battle with the elements, with all of the chances against the aviator."

"Aviation has progressed far enough in public interest no longer to need reckless deeds to stimulate that interest. We are planning to hold this contest in a new and unusual manner. The flyers will pick out their own flying days and may take all the time necessary to finish the race, under the best possible flying conditions.

"Among the matters to be decided by the contest board is the length of time to be allowed to flyers to complete their trip across the continent. It is possible we may allow them the month of November. With these new conditions we may expect all of the present speed records for long distance flying to be broken."

A large delegation of French and English aviators is expected to enter the contest. Prizes aggregating $100,000 probably will supplement the Pulitzer trophy, which is valued at $5000.

The reason for holding the race so late in the fall was to prevent it from conflicting with the international aviation meet, to be held in France the week of Sept. 27. Many of the contestants in the international race are expected to come to the United States to participate in the race.

BAILEY STILL LEADS IN TEXAS

Late Returns Show ex-Senator 5000
Ahead of Neff for Governor.

DALLAS, Tex., July 30.—Belated returns from distant counties of Texas received by the Texas Election Bureau continue to show no appreciable change in the outcome of the Democratic State primary of July 24. Former Senator Joseph W. Bailey, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, continues to lead Pat M. Neff of Waco by about $600.

Bailey and Neff will enter the run-off primary Aug. 28.

WHISKY STOLEN IN ST. REGIS APARTMENTS

Cash Ignored by Men Who Take Four Cases in Family's Absence.

Whisky thieves went to the St. Regis Apartments, 4944 Lindell boulevard, between 9 a. m. and noon yesterday and after breaking into the apartment of J. Sidney Salkey, a lawyer, stole liquors with an estimated value of $1000, ignoring jewelry and cash.

Elizabeth Baessler, a maid, reported the theft. She said she was absent from the apartment prior to noon. The family, she said, is absent from the city. When she returned she found the door lock and a lock on a locker where the whisky was kept had been forced.

The thieves entered the maid's room and emptied the contents of a large hand satchel on to her bed, including $49.44 and some jewelry. The maid said she knew four cases and 12 quarts of whisky were missing, but she would not be able to tell the full extent of the loss until the family returned.

The home of Gustav Rosenberg, 5021 Waterman avenue, manager of the Musical Art building, was entered by burglars in the absence of the family yesterday and two cases of whisky were stolen. The thieves forced a cellar window and later a lock on a locker in the basement.

REBELS READY TO SURRENDER

San Luis Potosi and Morelos Bandit Leaders Would Quit.

MEXICO CITY, July 30.—Manuel C. Larraga and Leon Martinez, the San Luis Potosi rebels, and Guillermo Savera and Francisco Mendoza, Morelos bandits, are reported to be ready for surrender. Elimination of Savera and Mendoza, it is claimed, would entirely pacify the State of Morelos.

Gen. Ireneo Villarreal, with his Coahuila rebel forces, is reported to have arrived at Laredo.

WALSH PLEDGES COX SUPPORT

Massachusetts Senator Dinner Guest of Ohio Governor.

DAYTON, O., July 30.—Gov. Cox, Democratic presidential standard bearer, yesterday received the pledge of the vigorous and unqualified support of Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, a leader among Senate Democrats who differed widely from the administration on the League of Nations and who fought for reservations.

Senator Walsh arrived here unexpectedly yesterday and was Gov. Cox's guest at dinner before leaving for the East.

U. S. SEEKS FACTS ON BRITISH OIL POLICY IN EAST

Representations Made by State Department to Learn Scope of Plans in Mandate Countries.

ANGLO-FRENCH PACT PUZZLING

Exchanges Between Two Governments Assuming Formal Character—Washington Favors "Open Door."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—An official statement from the State Department yesterday disclosed that representations have been made to the British Government regarding its policy touching the exploitation of oil fields and the distribution of oil from mandate countries. The subject had been discussed informally between the department and Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador here, and the American embassy in London also is believed to have been gathering information on the subject.

The exchanges between the two Governments on the oil question are understood to have begun to take on a more formal character than a month ago and a note was addressed to the British Government which was not in any sense a protest, for the State Department at that time had little beyond press reports upon which to work, but was rather intended to develop the intentions of the British in regard to the oil fields of Mesopotamia and perhaps some of the Balkan countries.

Agreement Causes Confusion. A good deal of confusion exists in official circles here as to the nature of agreements reported to have been made between Great Britain and France and perhaps other Entente countries regarding the distribution of oil, as in Asia Minor. Information is being sought particularly by this Government as to prewar agreements and the extent of governmental control over the oil as distinguished from undertakings arranged by private oil interests which occupy a different status from an international standpoint.

Assertions have been made, and taken notice of by the State Department, that the arrangements now being made for the distribution of oil between the allied countries are in line with the plans formed by the economic conference, an outgrowth of the peace conference in Paris from which the United States Government withdrew when the Senate withheld its approval of the peace treaty. That conference projected a continuation in the period after the war of the system of joint control of the production and distribution of raw materials under which these materials were rationed among the Entente nations until normal conditions should be restored in the economic world.

While readily subscribing to the original agreements as very necessary war measures, the Washington Government is understood to have resisted the appeal of the Entente Powers to continue in the combination now that the war has ended, holding that there is no longer necessity for any such system of rationing and that the ordinary forces of business law should be allowed to prevail.

United States Favor Open Door. As petroleum is one of the most important of the raw materials rationed during the war, and in view of the rapid diminution of this country's supply, naturally the Government here has felt it necessary to omit no effort to maintain the open door for oil consumers of all nationalities, no matter where the oil fields might be. As indicated in the official statement made yesterday, however, the inquiry at this stage principally is directed to oil produced in what are known as mandate countries. Officials realize as to that which is produced within the British, French or Italian dominions, or in Rumania, the Governments of those might properly exercise control over exports. But the case is different as to mandate countries in the view of the State Department. For, under the peace treaty, it was stipulated that the Powers assuming mandates over territories formerly governed by the Central Powers, but separated from them by treaty as a result of the war, should show no discrimination in the exploitation of natural resources. It is on this point, among others, the State Department is said to desire information.

RAISINS TO BE AUCTIONED

200 Carloads to Be Offered at New York Monday.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 30.—From two to three hundred carloads of raisins will be sold at auction Monday in New York by the California Associated Raisin Co., the Department of Justice was advised yesterday. The company also will set a price for the balance of the raisin crop Aug. 2.

Decision of the company to take these steps, the Department of Justice stated, resulted from contentions by the Federal Trade Commission that the company had been "charging more than a fair and reasonable price for its raisins."

AUTO CLUB HEAD ARRESTS MAYOR'S SON AS SPEEDER

John A. Bruner Alleges Elmer Kiel Was Exceeding 30 Miles an Hour.

Elmer Kiel, son of Mayor Kiel, was arrested at Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard yesterday afternoon on a charge of reckless driving. The arrest was made by John

A. Bruner, president of the Automobile Club of St. Louis, and chairman of the local Vigilance Committee of the National Safety Council.

Bruner said at Grand and Lindell that Kiel had been running his car more than 30 miles an hour out Pine street. When Bruner overtook Kiel and told him he was running too fast, he said Kiel replied, "What business is it of yours?" However, Bruner has a special watchman's license.

In police court this morning the case against Kiel was continued until tomorrow.

DEPENDABLE INVESTMENTS

First Mortgage Real Estate Serial Notes

offer what the successful investor always demands—ample security and good returns.

Our current investment list describes a number of most attractive issues of Six Per Cent First Mortgage Real Estate Serial Notes in denominations of $100 and $500.

They are safe investments—the kind that will stand the most exacting tests, each issue being offered with the high recommendation that attaches to real estate mortgage loans handled by the Mercantile Trust Company and have made possible the statement: "No one has lost one cent, principal or interest, on any real estate mortgage note purchased through the Mercantile Trust Company."

The character of these investments is diversified, both as to kind and location of security. Likewise to the wide range of maturities. This enables an investor to select the sort of security he desires, and also to place his funds for a short or long term, according to his own preference. In addition to these qualities, investors will bear in mind that our interest in these notes does not end with their sale. Until the last obligation is paid and the mortgage is satisfied, we protect the noteholders by watching insurance, see that the taxes are paid promptly, and generally throw the same safeguards around the security as though we still owned the entire issue. Service such as this has made possible the large clientele we have established in every State of the Union and in many foreign countries.

A Word to Non-Resident Investors

These notes can be purchased by non-residents with the same facility and safety as by local investors. We guarantee delivery of notes to any Post Office in the United States. Interest and principal may be collected at maturity through our own bank, or, if the notes and coupons are sent to us direct, we will remit without charge.

Write or call for detail circulars of current offerings.

MANY PEOPLE ENJOY THEIR SATURDAY HOLIDAY

Last Saturday many young folks, as well as older couples, visited this store and informed us that they spent a pleasant hour or more looking through the many specially furnished rooms in this establishment.

The Prudock-Litten Furniture Store, occupying the entire block at 10th and St. Charles streets, is devoted exclusively to furniture.

Some fifty rooms have been especially furnished with complete sets of dining-room, living-room and bedroom furniture.

As this store is open until 5 p. m. Saturday, many who cannot visit our store during the week enjoy going through on Saturday, and it gives us pleasure to show you the unique assortment of furniture from all parts of the United States, Europe, China and Japan.

The August Reduced Sale price is now on the goods, and you can see them at your leisure. Savings of from 5 per cent to 35 per cent on everything.

If you find the suits or odd pieces meet your individual requirement, make your selection tomorrow, because the assortments are broken, and will arrive to deliver in August, September or October.

ALLINSON, DRAFT EVADER, RELEASED

Special War Department Order in Case of Man Who Tried to Get Out of U. S.

By the Associated Press.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., July 30.—Brest Dow Allinson of Chicago, serving a five-year term in the Leavenworth Federal prison, for draft evasion, late yesterday was released by special order of the War Department commuting the unserved portion of his sentence.

Allinson was sentenced to 25 years in the Federal prison here upon conviction of refusal to respond to his draft call, but later the sentence was reduced to five years.

He obtained a clerkship in the American legation at Geneva, Switzerland, and was arrested on the military charge as he embarked at Liverpool. He was returned and tried by courtmartial.

Allinson's reduced term would have expired in July, 1921. According to prison officials, he had no time coming to him for good behavior. He drew transportation to Chicago before leaving prison.

Convicted by Courtmartial.

The general courtmartial at Camp Grant, Ill., found Allinson guilty of evading the draft and refusing to perform military service on June 12, 1918. Col. Charles R. Howland served as president of the courtmartial.

Allinson registered for the draft in Chicago, but prior to obtaining the embassy appointment at Berne, wrote an open letter to Secretary of War Baker, protesting against the draft and the war. After he sailed for Europe his writings against the draft and the war were called to the attention of the State Department and Secretary Lansing ordered his return. When he was brought to Washington, he continued his fight against induction into military service, but on the return of Secretary Baker from Europe he was arrested and taken from Washington to Camp Grant.

Father Opposed Views.

Before his arrest at Washington he sent long telegrams to the Chicago draft board stating his conscientious objections to military service and saying he would "serve the officers with tea" if they came to arrest him.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Allinson, formerly of the Henry Booth Settlement House here, and was graduated from Harvard in 1916.

Allinson's father, who was not in sympathy with his views and who early entered Red Cross service during the war, said the attitude of his son was due to "the sublime egotism of youth."

Allinson was not a "good conduct" prisoner. Last week, when it was reported that Allinson had made complaint of treatment accorded him in prison, Warden Anderson said: "Allinson has been reported as many times as any other prisoner here for violations of the rules."

"When his parents were here they admitted to me that Allinson had been brought up to have everything his own way. He was not taught obedience. His record shows it."

CANDIDATES ASKED FOR "YES OR NO" ON COMPENSATION LAW

Associated Industries Also Want

Gubernatorial Aspirants to State Views on Need for Such Plan.

The Associated Industries of Missouri, an employers' organization, with headquarters in the Security building, has sent a letter to the candidates for Governor on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, in next Tuesday's primary, asking statements of their views regarding "the need of a fair workmen's compensation law in Missouri."

The candidates are also asked to state, "yes or no," whether they favor the ratification, at the November election, of the workmen's compensation law passed at the last session of the Legislature, which is to be submitted to the people through the referendum.

The candidates were requested to send their replies by mail or telegraph in time to reach the office this afternoon. The answers, it is announced, will be mailed tomorrow to the executives of 2500 business concerns in Missouri, and will reach them Monday, the day before the primary.

BODY OF PITTSBURG MAN, LOST IN MOUNTAINS, FOUND

Joseph Unger, Hotel Owner, Believed to Have Fallen Off Cliff in Wild Section of Idaho.

By the Associated Press.

BOISE, Idaho, July 30.—Joseph Unger, wealthy Pittsburg hotel owner, who was lost Oct. 7, 1919, in the Salmon River Mountains, 103 miles from Challis, came to his death by falling off a cliff into Rabbit River, according to F. M. S. Breckers, superintendent of the State Constabulary, who has returned after examining Unger's body.

The body was found eight miles from where Unger was last seen. The country is the wildest big game section in the State and is practically unexplored.

L. E. Fout, who was with Unger last year, identified the Pittsburg man's apparel.

BOY KILLS BULL WITH BRICK

By the Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 30.—An infuriated bull was killed almost instantly when struck between the eyes by a brick thrown by a boy as it was about to gore an aged negro here recently. The lad, apparently frightened when he saw the animal sink to the ground, fled, and employees at the local stockyards, where the incident occurred, were unable to learn his identity.

The bull escaped from its pen and charged at Robert Williams, an aged negro employe.

CANTU PREPARES FOR BATTLE WITH MEXICAN FEDERALS

Lower California Governor Prepares Positions on High Ground to Stop Troops From Mainland.

RECRUITS GATHERED NEAR ARIZONA LINE

United States Has Small Force Near Calexico, Cal., Prepared to Protect American Interests.

By the Associated Press. EL PASO, Tex., July 30.—Mexican Federal forces are being mobilized and moved against Lower California to put down the rebellion against Federal authorities of Gov. Esteban Cantu. It was announced today by Gen. P. Elias Calles, Mexican Minister of War and Marine, who is here en route to Torreon, Durango, to confer with Villa.

"Cantu has never accepted the authority of the Mexican central Government, either now or under the late President Carranza," Gen. Calles said. "He attempted to run the state as separate from the balance of Mexico and for his personal ends," the War Secretary added.

"Cantu was ordered to close gambling and vice of the worst kind, which has operated under his protection," said Gen. Calles. "He refused to do so, continuing to flaunt to the world a disgraceful condition that works against Mexico as a whole. The Federal Government is determined to end vice as quickly as possible. Baja California is a territory, not a state of Mexico, and the Governor must be subservient to the wishes of the national Government. The women of California will praise us for attempting to clean up these pest holes. Highways in the United States leading to Mexican cities in Lower California have signs reading: 'This road to hell.' These signs tell the truth."

Federals to Try to Outflank Cantu's Forces.

By the Associated Press. MEXICALI, Lower Cal., July 30.—Mexican Federal troops will attempt by superior number to outflank and drive from Mexicali the forces being recruited here by Esteban Cantu, Governor of the northern district of Lower California, according to Cantu leaders who are preparing for the defense of the region today.

To counteract such a move, strong positions on high ground are being selected by the defenders. Cantu's officers said. With a view to sweeping large expanses with artillery at the approach of the Federal troops from Manzanillo and Guaymas, eight men who ranked high in the army of the late President Venustiano Carranza have offered their services to Gov. Cantu and were in conference with the Governor last night, he announced.

The lives and property of Americans and other foreigners on both sides of the border line will be protected as fully as possible by the Mexican provisional Government in the event of hostilities between De la Huerta and Cantu forces, it was announced by M. G. Paredes, Mexican Consul here. A small force of United States troops is ready to protect American interests if the necessity arises, it was said.

Governor Cantu said he was receiving the support of many Chinese who had offered to provide "unlimited money" for the financing of the defense of his territory.

De Facto Government Will Send at Troops Needed, Calles Says.

By the Associated Press. NOGALTES, Ariz., July 30.—The Federal Government of Mexico will send all the troops necessary into Lower California to subdue Gov. Cantu, who is reported in revolt against the De la Huerta regime, Gen. P. Elias Calles, Mexican Secretary of War and Marine, said. "Cantu must and will be forced to recognize the Federal Government," he said.

Gen. Calles declared himself as favoring the prohibition of strong alcoholic drinks and gambling in Mexico and said President de la Huerta is working for national legislation toward this end.

Customs Records and Cash Brought to U. S. for Safety.

By the Associated Press. SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 30.—Senator Francisco Xavier Fernandez, cashier of the Tia Juana (Mexico) customs house, arrived in San Diego last night with more than $100,000 in American gold and almost an equal amount in commercial paper, he announced. He turned it over to Ives G. Leleiver, Federal consular agent of this city, for safe keeping. All the documents of the customs house at Tia Juana were also brought here and locked up, he said.

TWO HUSBANDS OFFER $50 REWARD FOR MISSING WIVES

East St. Louis Police Looking for Mrs. Belle Kirk and Mrs. Ida B. Witcher of Sessor, Ill.

East St. Louis police are wife hunting, the incentive being a reward of $50 which each of two husbands offers for the present address of his missing wife. The communication is from State's Attorney Martin of Franklin County.

Ill. and the women are Mrs. Belle Kirk and Mrs. Ida Belle Witcher, both of Sessor, Ill. Each has a child with her. The communication says they departed from Sessor July 6, in an automobile, in company with two men whose names are also mentioned.

PRISONER ASSAULTS TURNKEY AND LEAPS FROM WINDOW

Bank Robber Suspect Retaken by Magnolia District Police After Chase

Police of Belleville have been asked to look at a man who last evening made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the Magnolia police station after his arrest in the Frisco Railroad yards near Spring avenue, to determine if he is John Meyers, bank robber and burglar, who escaped from the Belleville jail four months ago. The prisoner said that his name was Ralph Jones, 28 years old, but several addresses which he gave all proved fictitious.

A man captured in the railroad yards with "Jones" escaped from railroad agents while they were questioning him in the Tower Grove station.

After "Jones" had been placed in a cell at the Magnolia station, he asked the turnkey, John Regan, 47 years old, for a pail of warm water in which to wash. He assaulted the turnkey and leaped from a cell-house window which had neither bars nor screen. He was recaptured after a chase through alleys and yards on Pestalozzi street about two blocks east of Grand avenue.

ARNOLD SUGGESTS WATCHERS AT POLLS

Proposes Republicans Have Three Men Name Special Corps to Look for Fraud.

Appointment of a special corps of watchers at the polls in the primary of next Tuesday was suggested today by Chairman Arnold of the Election Board, who will lay the matter before the city chairman of the parties.

Arnold said today that there had been comparatively little talk of possible fraud among the Democrats, but that rumor was prevalent among certain factions of the Republicans.

He suggested that the Schmolli-Kiel and Koeln adherents get together and agree on three men of unquestioned integrity, authorizing them to appoint special watchers at each polling place in addition to the regular watchers and challengers. This is permitted by Section 174 of the election law, Arnold said. He believes that such watchers need not necessarily live in the precincts where they are to be stationed.

If any Democrats fear factional fights, he suggests that Lawrence P. Daly, John Brandt and other officials of the party organization also name three men to appoint special watchers. About 500 such watchers would be required by each party.

Arnold also suggested that the ballots be counted by polling officials as a whole. Heretofore, he said, it has been the custom, after the polls are closed, for the Democratic officials to count the Democratic ballots and the Republicans to handle their own.

'IMPORTING' OF HUSBANDS FROM U. S. SUGGESTED IN FRANCE

Professor Who Champions Idea Receives Many Letters Daily Describing "Ideals."

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, July 29.—In view of the great excess of women over men in France, due mainly to the war, Prof. Paul Carnot champions the idea of "importing" into France husbands for those mortals who, through the war, have seen their hopes of marrying dashed to the ground.

Prof. Carnot, who, judging by the enormous correspondence he is receiving daily, will soon have to open up a matrimonial agency, would go to America to find husbands for French women of marriageable age. He estimates there are 2,000,000 more women in France than men.

Letters he has received come both from Americans and women in France, in which the correspondents describe the ideal persons they are looking for and ask Carnot to put them in touch with likely brides or bridegrooms.

WOMAN SLAYER OF COWBOY HUSBAND HELD IN $7000 BOND

Witnesses Say She Shot Him in Row Over Speeding After He Had Kicked Her.

By the Associated Press.

WINFIELD, Kan., July 29.—Mrs. Grace Wilson, at her preliminary hearing here yesterday, was held in bond of $7000 on a charge of killing her husband, Homer Wilson, widely known as a cowboy, near here last Sunday.

Witnesses at the hearing testified that Wilson had been driving recklessly and his wife had remonstrated. When the car was stopped she refused to go on with him driving, they said, and got out of the car. Wilson forced her back into the car with his hands and then she fired, according to the witnesses.

COMMON CASE TO JURY TODAY

Lawyer Says Defendants Should Be Sent to an Asylum.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29.—The trial of William Brown Lloyd, and 19 other members of the Communist party charged with violation of the State sedition laws was expected to go to the jury today, after Frank Comerford, attorney for the prosecution, had concluded his arguments.

Clarence S. Darrow, counsel for the defense, in his closing argument, referred to "these poor, deluded clients of mine." He said they should be sent to an asylum rather than to a penitentiary.

EVANGELINE MONUMENT UNVEILED

Lady Burnham Presides at Ceremony at Grand-Pre, N. S.

By the Associated Press.

GRAND-PRE, N. S., July 29.—A monument to the gentle "Evangeline" of Longfellow's poem was unveiled at Grand-Pre yesterday by Lady Burnham, wife of the president of the Imperial Free Conference, in the presence of delegates to the conference and visitors from the maritime provinces.

The statue is a copy of the small statue in clay modeled by the late Philippe Hebert, a French-Canadian sculptor. Adventures of Hebert's ancastors provided the theme of Longfellow's poem.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sum and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist, and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine, as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Honest Advertising.

THIS is a topic we all hear now-a-days because so many people are inclined to exaggerate. Yet has any physician told you that we claimed unreasonable remedial properties for Fletcher's Castoria? Just ask them. We won't answer it ourselves, we know what the answer will be.

That it has all the virtues to-day that was claimed for it in its early days is to be found in its increased use, the recommendation by prominent physicians, and our assurance that its standard will be maintained.

Imitations are to be found in some stores and only because of the Castoria that Mr. Fletcher created. But it is not the genuine Castoria that Mr. Fletcher honestly advertised, honestly placed before the public and from which he honestly expects to receive his reward.

Special Care of Baby.
That Baby should have a bed of its own all agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be shunned. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for infants and children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

State Regulation and Our 7% Preferred Dividends

The main purpose of State regulation of public utility rates, earnings, financing, accounting and service is to help utility companies give the public ample good service at its lowest necessary cost.

Interest and dividend payments on the large sums of new capital needed every year to extend the service, as well as on that already invested, are one of the largest items in the cost of service.

The State holds this cost down as low as possible, in the public interest, by approving rates which, with good management, will make the payment of interest and dividends regular and dependable.

It is this SAFETY factor—based on State policy, energetic management and honest capitalization—which enables Union Electric to obtain millions of dollars of new capital here at home by selling its 7 per cent preferred stock at par.

By this method Union Electric obtains new capital, authorized by the State, and needed for the public service, at as low a cost as does any other large utility company in America.

By this method thousands of St. Louis and Missouri small investors, whose savings never before earned more than 3 or 4 per cent interest, are enabled to get a BUSINESS INCOME of 7 per cent, with equal safety for their principal.

Because of its safety, conservative men and women of moderate means regard Union Electric 7 per cent preferred stock as a most desirable income investment. This stock is sold only by Union Electric Light & Power Company, through its Securities Department.

PRICE: $100 a share for cash; $102 on a ten-payment plan, under which buyers draw 5 per cent interest on installment payments, and can withdraw all payments, WITH INTEREST, any time before the final installment is paid.

SALES OFFICES: Room 201 Union Electric Building, St. Louis, and Union Electric's offices in Franklin, Jefferson, Perry, St. Charles and St. Louis counties.

MAIL ORDERS: Bank draft, certified check, postoffice or express money order should be sent with mail orders. Prompt delivery of shares will be made by registered mail.

To Keep Skin Fresh and Fine These Heated Days

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the heated term. Mixed with perspiration, dust and grime, these things are anything but beautiful. Ordinary mercerized wax will do more for the complexion, and without giving an oily, streaked, rouged or pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season, as it not only keeps the pores clean, but daily removes particles of sear skin which have been soiled by dirt or weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear, white, satiny, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful countenance than any of the arts or artifices commonly employed. One ounce of mercerized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will completely remove the worst complexion. It is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. There's nothing better for tanned, freckled or reddened skin.

WATCHMAN, 72, SHOT BY NEGRO ROBBER

Highwayman Fires When He Finds Other Has No Money 'for Something to Drink.'

Charles Sattle, 72 years old, of 3523 South Second street, employed by the Lemp Brewery to watch cars near the end of Potomac street, was reported in a critical condition at the Lutheran Hospital today as the result of being shot in the back of the head by a negro highwayman who became angered because he found no money in the aged man's pockets. The bullet caused a depressed fracture of the skull, physicians said. Sattle was in a little shanty near the end of Potomac street when the negro stepped in about 9 o'clock last night, he reported, and asked for a drink of water. As he turned to get the water the negro drew a revolver and ordered Sattle to throw up his hands. "I gotta have some money to get somethin' stronger'n water," he remarked, and started to search Sattle's pockets. Finding no money, the negro made as if to strike the watchman. Sattle turned to protect his face and the negro fired at the back of his head. As he ran out of the shanty the negro took Sattle's coat, containing a watch, from a chair. The watchman was found a short time later by a neighbor who dropped in to chat. The negro was described by Sattle as about 26 years old.

HOUSEWIVES' UNION SEEKS TO SAVE LIFE OF NEGRO SLAYER

Wants Confessed Murderer of Seven Persons to Have Fate of Los Angeles "Bluebeard."

By the Associated Press. SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 30.—Housewives' Union, No. 1, with headquarters at Palo Alto, Cal., has written asking Gov. W. D. Stephens to save the life of Moses Gibson, negro, who, according to the police, confessed to seven murders after he had been sentenced to hang at the San Quentin Penitentiary, Sept. 24. The letter suggested that should Gibson hang, comparison would be made with the case of James P. Watson, a white man, Los Angeles "Bluebeard," who recently was sentenced to life imprisonment after he had confessed to the murder of several wives.

MAN, 80, FALLS UPON AX

Jersey County Man Badly Hurt
When Unwinding Clothes Line.
When E. Gathier, 80 years old, a pioneer of Jersey County, Ill., was walking through the yard at the home of his son, John Gathier, west of Jerseyville, yesterday, he tripped and fell on an ax which he was carrying, fracturing two ribs, which penetrated his lungs. His condition is serious.
Gathier was unwinding a clothes line so a threshing outfit could pass through the yard when the accident occurred.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

70 AT MEETING FOR NEW CONSTITUTION

J. Lionberger Davis Urges That Backers Keep Apart From Political Parties.

Plans for placing the need for a new State Constitution before the voters, before the November election, were discussed today at a meeting called by the New Constitution Association, held at the Planters Hotel. The proposal to call a constitutional convention, for the framing of the proposed new Constitution, is to be placed on the ballot in November.

About 70 persons attended the meeting, the greater part of whom came from outside St. Louis. Dr. W. H. Black of Marshall, president of Missouri Valley College, who is head of the Constitution organization, was late in arriving, and J. Lionberger Davis of St. Louis presided at the start of the meeting.

Davis, in his introductory talk, said the movement should avoid association with any party or partisan group.

Associate City Counselor Bader, speaking for Mayor Kiel, said the movement had the Mayor's support. Percy Werner, attorney, Miss Marie Ames, representing the League of Women Voters, and W. P. Evans, principal of the Blow School, were other speakers.

Samuel P. O'Fallon of Oregon, Holt County, who was Speaker of the lower house in the last Legislature, spoke of the need of nonpartisan redistricting of senatorial districts, which have not been changed since 1901. He said he would stump the State for the constitutional proposal.

Dr. Black, on taking the chair, said the present Constitution did not meet the aims and ideals of the State, and spoke of campaign measures for a new Constitution.

Former Judge Samuel Rosenfeld, who is president of the Million Population Club of St. Louis, suggested the naming of a financial secretary, and the establishment of a working budget.

TOMORROW LAST DAY TO PAY SPECIAL FEDERAL TAXES

Judging by Last Year's Totals, 70 Per Cent of Taxes Remain Unpaid.

Tomorrow will be the last day for the payment of special Federal taxes and the tax on capital stock without penalty. Judging by the totals of last year, not more than 70 per cent of these taxes have been paid and a rush is expected during the last hours.

The tax on capital stock is $1 per $1000. The assessment is based on a reasonable estimate of earning power. Corporations are required to make returns. If these are not satisfactory the Collector of Internal Revenue has a check made on them.

The special taxes include retail liquor dealers (druggists selling liquors), $25 per year; wholesale liquor dealers, $100; manufacturers of oleomargarine, $500; pawnbrokers, $100; theaters with seating capacity of 250 or less, $50; 250 to 500, $100; 500 to 800, $150; over 800, $200; bowling alleys and billiard halls, for each alley or table, $10; shooting galleries, $10; riding academies, $100; tobacco dealers, according to sales, $8 to $24.

The penalty for failure to pay within the time limit is 25 per cent of the tax, which is mandatory, and $1000 additional, at the discretion of the Collector, if it appears that the delinquency is willful.

TENTH INNING OF BALL GAME PLAYED IN COURT

Judge Fines Two $10 Each as Result of Row in Schumacher-Hezel Contest.

The tenth inning of Sunday's game at Carondelet Park between the South Side leaguers, the Schumachers and the Hezels, was played today in police court, with Judge Littner as umpire.

In the Sunday game the Hezels were leading in the seventh inning, with the score at 7 to 3, but the Schumachers won by 8 to 7. Edward J. Kroner of 4920 Chippewa street, a member of the Hezels, thought the umpire, John M. Koelsch of 512 Fassen street, helped the Schumachers win, and after the game he hit Koelsch in the face and told him what he thought of his umpiring.

Koelsch did not hit back, but there was considerable general shoving, and in the midst of it someone hit Policeman Fred Auel in the jaw. Auel turned and there was Herman Schuchman of 149 President street standing behind him. He arrested Schuchman.

Kroner went to bat in police court today and admitted that he gave the umpire "a little shove" in the face. Schuchman said he didn't hit the policeman. Littner fined them each $10 and put them on probation until Sept. 9. The baseball season will be about over then.

READY-TO-WEAR PRICES AT PEAK

Women's and Children's Garments Reported on the Decline.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 29.—Prices for ready-to-wear garments have reached their peak and started to decline, according to members of the Ready-to-Wear Association that began a 10 days' exhibition here today.

The association comprises makers of ready-to-wear garments for women and children. The buyers attending the exhibit are smaller merchants from Middle Western cities.

CHOOSER SOLDIER-HUSBAND OVER MAN SHE WED IN HIS ABSENCE

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30.—When Henry Curtis, the husband whom she had believed dead in France, returned, Mrs. Esther Warren Curtis Peel decided that she loved him better than Eugene Peel, whom she had wedded after being informed Curtis was dead. Yesterday Peel obtained a divorce in the Circuit Court here.

Man alive—listen!
ALL you've got to do is to smoke Camels to know they are the most wonderful cigarette ever created. You'll like Camels even better when you compare them with any cigarette in the world!

You realize then that Camels never have been approached in quality, in their expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos, and in the enjoyment they provide!

You'll quickly decide that Camels blend is a revelation—and that you greatly prefer it to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

My, but you have a lot coming your way in Camels smooth mellow mild body and refreshing flavor! You'll say "Camels are made to meet my taste". And that's a fact! Besides they'll never tire it!

And another thing about Camels you'll find unusual—they never leave any unpleasant cigarettey aftertaste or unpleasant cigarettey odor!

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

POLICEMAN AMONG 9 PERSONS HURT BY AUTOS

Driver Says He and Mounted Man's Horse Were Blinded by Lights.

Nine persons were injured yesterday afternoon and last night in motor vehicle accidents.

Probationary Patrolman Charles Staehlin of the Mounted District, 26 years old, residing at 3541 Maffitt avenue, was thrown from his horse at Oakland and Billion avenues at 10:45 p. m., when the animal was hit by an automobile driven by Albert L. Jones, 601 Sunnyside avenue, Webster Groves. Staehlin was taken to Barnes hospital with a fractured leg and internal injuries, the horse having fallen upon him. The horse was cut on the right hind leg.

Jones told the police that he was blinded by the headlights rays of another automobile, and that the horse, evidently frightened by the same rays, jumped in front of his automobile.

Deaf Man Hit by Auto. Gottlieb Hurn, 41, of 4399 Evans avenue, when crossing Easton avenue at Pendleton avenue, at 10 p. m., was hit by an automobile driven by James J. Moran, 4439 Ashland avenue. His skull was fractured and he was taken to the city hospital in a serious condition.

Mrs. Hurn, who crossed the street in advance of her husband, informed the police that Hurn was deaf and did not hear Moran's horn. Moran was arrested.

A one-wheel "auto horse" attached to a fire engine skidded against an automobile in front of 1123 South Broadway at 6 p. m., when responding to a false alarm from First street and Park avenue. The engine was overturned. Gus Surt, the driver, and Clayton Pritch, the engineer, were cut and bruised.

Millard Carpenter, 30 years old, of 5140 San Francisco avenue, was knocked down by a backing automobile in Chevrolet drive, at Natural Bridge and Union avenues. Several of his teeth were loosened and his shoulder was fractured.

Youth Hit Boarding Car. John Kraus, 18, of 4133 Page boulevard, stepping into the street to board an eastbound Laclede car at Sarah street and Laclede avenue, was knocked down by an automobile driven by William Krieger, 54, of 4662 Tower Grove place, a butcher. He was cut on the head.

Charles Frank, 31, of 3008 McNair avenue, was run over at Eighteenth street and Park avenue by a motor truck operated by John de Blase, 922 Franklin avenue. Frank's right foot was crushed.

John Wallace, 1431 Cass avenue, and Arthur Wilson, 4214 Westchester place, were thrown from an automobile in a collision with a Bellefontaine car at Tenth and Morgan streets. Both were cut on the face and head.

NOTE IN KEYHOLE LEADS TO FINDING OF POISONED MAN

Railroad Conductor, Separated From Wife, Discovered in Hotel Suffering From Alcohol and Chloroform.

A note sticking through the keyhole of a room occupied by John Killgore, 27 years old, a railroad conductor, at the New Lindell Hotel, Sixth street and Lucas avenue, last night attracted a porter, who investigated. The note read:

"When this you find, whoever you may be, please take it to 3217 North Kosuth avenue for I am dying and that is the place I want to know I am dead. They live on the second floor. I won't tell their name, so good-by. John Killgore."

The porter called the police. Killgore was unconscious. At the city hospital doctors said he was suffering from alcohol, and probably chloroform poisoning. His condition was declared serious.

At 3217 Kosuth avenue the police found Mrs. James Narnes, an aunt of Killgore. She told the police Killgore had been separated from his wife.

HOUSEBOAT DWELLER SHOT BY WIFE HAS $1091 IN TRUNK

Wounded Man Asks Police to Take Receipts to Station—Condition Reported Improved.

A trunk containing $1091.55, a watch, three rings and a diamond stud, besides other personal belongings, of John Roundtree, 55 years old, who was shot three times by his wife, Martha, 25, in their houseboat at Quincy street yesterday morning, was taken in charge by the police last night at the request of Roundtree, who asked the police to guard everything in the houseboat.

He particularly asked the police to take the trunk to the station. The wounded man was reported improved at the city hospital today and doctors said he might recover. The wife is a prisoner at the Carondelet Station.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN OF STATE TO SELECT NEW LEADERS AUG. 3

A call for mass meetings of Democratic women in the wards of the city and the townships in the rural districts of Missouri, Aug. 3, has been issued by Chairman Neale of the Democratic State Committee and Mrs. J. W. McKnight, chairman of the Democratic Women's State Committee. The purpose is to elect precinct and ward committeewomen.

Meetings of the precinct committeewomen of each county will be held Aug. 16 to organize county committees. The new State organization of women will be effected at the time of the Democratic State convention of candidates in Jefferson City in September.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.
 I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never back sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Read and Priest.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 Hasn't Senator Reed been a sufficiently glaring menace to Missouri and the Democratic party during the last two years without putting former Judge Priest in the United States Senate to act as "Me, Too"? Wouldn't that be a pair to further humiliate our great State and great party? But it will never happen. Reed has been playing into the hands of rank Republicanism enough without the aid of Priest et al. The Democratic party of Missouri has been grieved to see how ungrateful Reed had been after having been so highly honored twice by the party in sending him to the Senate, and if possible the party would have recalled him long before this time. His chief delight seems to be to antagonize the party and the President. Surely, he is now well aware of the fact that the party is, comparatively, solid against him, which was plainly illustrated in the action of the State and national conventions, where he was so fittingly "rolled." Yet, he displays a brazen front in stabbing the party (and especially the President) with his unwise tongue, thus joggling himself deeper into the mire. Does any sensible Democratic voter of Missouri envy Reed his egotism, selfishness and overestimated oratorical force? Like Bryan, he evidently has used such yet unwisely. Both claim to be Democrats yet, but their actions look otherwise. Have they "slipped"? And think how both have had honors heaped upon them by their party. Their grandstand playing has ceased to be attractive to thinking, well-balanced Democrats.
TRES.

That Speech.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 Please permit me as a reader of your paper to make a few comments and voice my opinion relative to Senator Harding's speech of acceptance. It's a fine example of old guard standstill antiquated pretension, promise and buncombe, without any intension of doing anything to serve special interests. It is very flamboyant on old dead issues, both vague and ambiguous and meaningless on live, up-to-date issues. There is not a progressive line of thought in the whole document.

The Shrinking Dollar.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 The controversy between tenants and property owners is puzzling. The tenant could easily clinch his argument. It seems, if he would only prove that the rise in rents is greater than in other things and stop keeping it a secret. One writer to the Post-Dispatch says owners have no right to expect a rent from old houses, whatever may happen to new ones. It may be all right, but what bothers me is why the fickle dollar can constantly change its size and dimensions while the old house can't. Substitute, for instance, the bushel, or 60 pounds of wheat for the dollar. Suppose the tenant, a grocer, six years ago began paying that as a monthly rental for a six-room house. But the bushel has since shrunk and now holds but 29 pounds, which he offers in full payment. The landlord says: "No, my house has not shrunk and still has six rooms, but I will accept your 29-pound bushel if you will give up four rooms, or I will accept two bushels, or 48 pounds, for the whole house and make you a present of 26 pounds, something no other person or store would do. The tenant thereupon becomes indignant, and hastens to the Complaint Board and calls the landlord a profiteer, a robber, a rent hoard and demands that he be compelled to accept the 29-pound bushel. On the other hand, the landlord has been giving his tenant, the grocer, a bushel for a certain amount of sugar. But now the grocer wants three bushels for the same sugar, saying: "Since the 60-pound bushel has shrunk to 29 pounds, he must have three bushels in exchange. And the landlord meekly complied. The grocer refused to pay the two bushels; but the landlord paid the three. Was that right? Thank you.
F. BUSHEL.

Our Next President, Senator and Governor.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 As a close observer of political matters, past and present, I am firmly of the opinion that Missouri will show up gloriously on November election day for Cox, Hay and Atkinson.
TRES.

A Thinner's Troubles.
 To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
 I am a thinner and am on a strike. I am well satisfied with our present wage of $10 per hour, having been raised since 1901 from $10 to $15. Now they insist on 40c per hour advance in two months—July 1, 15c raise; Sept. 1, 25c raise; total 40c, or $12.50 per day raise, $17.50 per week. I am satisfied no boss can pay an advance of $17.50 per week, but I can't lay off, same as all journeymen. I have been out four weeks, have lost $150 because what I have spent leading. Can't something be done through your paper for a settlement? I don't know what to do. I don't like to go to open shop, where I could get work for $10.

REPUBLICAN HOUSE-CLEANING.

The recommendations of the Missouri Association of Republicans, to Republicans, with regard to candidates who ought to be defeated in the party primaries, should strongly appeal to all Republican voters who want their party redeemed from the scandal of the slush fund and the menace of corrupt boss rule.

The prime object of the association is to clean house in the Republican party by defeating all candidates tainted with the slush funds distributed in the presidential nominating campaign. Its condemnation embraces the candidates who handled or received the funds distributed to obtain delegates to the Chicago convention and candidates who approved or condoned the offense or who support the party leaders who handled the slush funds.

Beyond that the ballot of the association strikes at the effort of the Courthouse Ring, led by Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein and his deputy, Robert Moore, to control the bench by putting over a slate for the judiciary. It joins the Post-Dispatch and City Collector Edmond Koeln in urging Republican voters to concentrate their votes on the candidates approved in the vote of Republican members of the Bar Association—Judge Reynolds of the Court of Appeals; Judges Shields and Grimm and Claude O. Peary for the Circuit bench, and William M. Bates for the Court of Criminal Correction. It is of first importance that the bench be kept free of boss control and that a high standard of fitness and independence be maintained in the judiciary. This duty of good citizenship rests upon the members of all parties. In this city the responsibility belongs especially to Republican voters, because the party is in the ascendancy at this time.

On the local ticket, Boss Schmoll, candidate for Sheriff, supporting Babler and Cole, and Frank Slater, of unsavory official record, are marked for defeat. Special attention is called to the candidacy of John W. Dunn for City Treasurer, a man of excellent record, acknowledged capacity and exceptional fitness, who is being opposed by Tony Schuler, a creature of the machine bosses.

The housecleaning movement of Republican voters and the revolt of Collector Koeln, one of the strongest local party leaders, against the Courthouse Ring is the most hopeful sign of political health in St. Louis and Missouri. The distribution of a few thousand dollars to control party delegates may seem a small matter, but it strikes at the foundation of republican representative government. If corrupt practices on the part of political leaders is not sternly rebuked it becomes the prelude to the wholesale use of money to control nominations and the Government. The naming of a few candidates by machine bosses may seem a small matter, but when party bosses presume to bandy about nominations and control officials and the courts, it is a prelude to a reign of corruption in politics and inefficiency and extravagance in government. The bosses become the dictators of the party and control the offices, including the courts, for their own political and personal gain. The people are cliphers. They merely pay the freight and suffer from rotten government.

The overthrow of the money power and boss rule is not only necessary for the public welfare, but for the party's welfare. If the bosses control the nominations this fall they will entrench themselves in power until the party's standing in St. Louis and Missouri will inevitably lead to its defeat. If the bosses control all the nominations and put up unfit candidates, nothing short of the defeat of the party will be required to clean house.

What will reputable Republican voters who want good party government as well as good government in the city and State do to assure a party housecleaning and clean candidates? They cannot do it by merely protesting against boss-ridden, unfit candidates and recommending good candidates. They cannot stay at home on election day and clean house. They must work and vote. The bosses can deliver in St. Louis from 18,000 to 20,000 votes for the machine candidates. It will take 25,000 independent Republican votes to defeat the machine candidates and elect the anti-boss candidates—that many votes are required to overcome the machine strength in St. Louis.

Will good Republicans deliver the vote? It rests with the voters.

HOW ONE STRIKE WAS SETTLED.

Otto F. Stifel, principal owner of a coal mine at Pocahontas, Ill., settled a strike at his plant by withdrawing from the Coal Operators' Association and reaching an agreement with his own workmen. Such procedure seems new only because it is so old. That this resurrected policy could be applied throughout the whole industrial world is preposterous. It would be turning the clock a long distance back. Nevertheless the clarity with which the trouble was settled at that plant fairly raises a question as to whether organization has not been overdone, and whether it would not be better for both labor and capital to adjust some differences by themselves instead of referring everything to distant tribunals.

The value of organization to labor, its indispensability, indeed, is patent to all. By no other agency could labor have mustered the power to compel justice from short-sighted, bullheaded capitalists, the latest exemplar of which is the United States Steel Corporation, with its destructively long hours and conditions of proscriptive and tyrannical that, in comparison with the prevalent industrial status, are medieval. Labor can never disorganize and depend upon the will of capital to be just, but labor and capital may both consider well the possibilities of mutual benefits and profits in reserving a measure of individual authority and judgment in their direct relations.

The organizations of both labor and capital have parasites who prosper on war and rumors of war. If it were possible to refer only basic questions to the order, leaving the various lodges to adjust their minor or special differences, the results would be beneficial both to employers and employees and fatal to the buzzards that feast on strife.

BANKER WADE'S PROPOSALS.

After two months in Europe, studying conditions there, and finding the situation far better than many other observers, Festus J. Wade, the St. Louis banker, declares Europe can get back on its feet quickly, with our assistance.

There are two ways for us to assist: First, by canceling our war loans. They aggregate ten billions, but Wade would charge them off provided European countries did the same, and, further, that France and England would guarantee to restore foreign exchange. Second, by removing the tariff. Import duties hinder trade. That is their reason for being. All hindrances to trade should be wiped out as far as possible.

The proposition to give Europe a receipt in full for $10,000,000,000 will make some folks gasp, but it is the second Wade proposal, the elimination of the tariff, that will be the real disturber. We have a good many eminent folks in the United States who have profited splendidly from the tariff. We have many politicians who thrive only when the Republican party is in power and they are devoted to the theory of protection. Banker Wade may persuade such folks to give up their pro rata in the ten billions, but no eloquence of man or angels could shake their fidelity to the tariff.

If it came to an issue, these folks would hand over the Constitution of the United States before they would surrender their cherished tariff.

President de la Huerta proposes to make Mexico dry, and it is our best knowledge and belief that Mexico deserves it.

VALIDATING THE PROGRESSIVE PLEDGES.

The assurances of Progressive support he is receiving must be as manna to Mr. Harding, but his sense of security would be enhanced, we are sure, were those pledges finally authenticated. Such validation were not easily achieved, but the attractive Mr. Hays, the Metetrich of the Wahash, will be equal to the task.

Assuming the preliminaries to have been arranged, that Sir Oliver Lodge has agreed to procure an expression from the vibrant shade of Col. Roosevelt, and, omitting the abracadabra of the occult scenario, let us report, in as far as we veraciously may, the verbatim of the dialogue:

Sir Oliver: How are you, Colonel?
 T. R.: Bully. Never felt so well in my life. But who is this talking? I didn't quite get the name.
 Sir O.: Lodge.

T. R.: Dee-lighted. But, honestly, Lodge, I never should have recognized your voice. Where did you get that Pleadilly accent? And, candidly, I must say that was a rotten speech you delivered at Chicago. It made the angels weep. I speak advisedly on that point. And what a ticket! Had you chosen my protégé, Wood? But that's over. What I'm wondering is, how are you going to arouse any enthusiasm for a chap whose middle name is Gamaliel—deservedly so named, too, I believe. It couldn't be done, even before the eighteenth amendment. I can't imagine what Penrose, George Harvey, Murray Crane and what other Progressives were thinking of when—Sir O.: You are mistaken, Colonel. I am not—
 T. R.: Never mind. Don't interrupt. I haven't had the floor for a good while. I'm enjoying it. And let me remark that that platform rather gloomed things up here, though from echoes of the celebration below they must have liked it down there. They—Sir O.: But, Col. Roosevelt, you've got the wrong Lodge.

T. R.: What's that? Isn't this Cabot, Henry Cabot Lodge, Brahmin of Nahant and my favorite, though belated, candidate for the Progressive nomination in 1916?
 Sir O.: No. This is Oliver, Sir Oliver Lodge, as I have been trying to interline, but without success.
 T. R.: I beg your pardon, Sir Oliver. My seeming familiarity—
 Sir O.: Entirely excusable under the circumstances. I may say, though, that your air of levity, not to say flippancy, is extraordinary. I am somewhat disappointed. My communications from over there have all been of a serene tenor—

T. R.: There, there, Sir Oliver; don't say another word. I understand. You've been talking with our molluscoids. We have them here, of course. Don't waste your time or your eternity apologizing. At worst, the blunder is fifty-fifty. I've got the wrong Lodge. You've got the wrong station. There is no one around here that cares a rap for the old, reactionary Republican party. The friends of that crowd on this side the Styx are not up here. For another worldly expression on the November prospects of the G. O. P. you will have to go elsewhere.

Sir O.: But, my dear Colonel, where else can I go, or Mr. Hays, either?
 T. R.: Listen, Sir Oliver (and the psychical wires vibrated with a once familiar chuckle), faciliis desuase avari, not to use a shorter and punchier phrase—
 There was a whirling echo as of strenuous wings plumed for distant flight. Sir Oliver, mopping a beaded brow, tottered out into the night.

TAUNTING SENATOR REED.

I enjoy to read the argument displayed by Just a Minute in his ridiculous attempts to illustrate his fervent devotion to the League of Nations. Derivative overfulness of taunting on this subject led him to attempt to lampoon Senator Reed for "overlooking the Olympic games and likewise the yacht races," etc., "as a potential peril," the moment we join in these sport contests of an international character. Just a minute of thinking logically should suggest that there is no similarity between individual contests for supremacy between the sport representatives of nations and their co-operation in a League of Nations. One is individualism, the other collectivism. With equal innocence of properly using a simile he associates the names of the "Polish Premier Grabski" and "our own Jamie Reed."

The Poles are a shining illustration of "Grabski" doctrine in their attempt to whip the much abused Bolshevik, with the consequent appeal for the League of Nations, as well as the United States, to help the Poles to terminate the "sport" they entered into when they tackled Russia. "Our own Jamie Reed" merely predicted such things, which are now actually happening. Our courageous Senator admonishes careless thinkers not to forget that history has never before produced a nation like ours—"The only people untrifled of deceit."

Our Declaration of Independence calls for a "one hand," with which we have been a successful winner in material value of promoting civilization. We also lead in sport and recreation in quantity and quality, and we have demonstrated the law of self-preservation and the biblical quotation: "He that tootheth not his own horn, the same shall not be toothed."

The league program contemplates our country will "toot" the other fellows' horn, lend him money, fight his fights, stabilize his finances, assume his debts and reform him generally.

Let's make the United States safe for Americans and those who desire to become Americans, in our own "league" of 48 states the best place in the world, but which needs improvement.

FORCE RULE IN HUNGARY.

FREDERICK KUH is the Liberator.
BUDAPEST has a clear title to being the center of the European counter-revolution. Every thinking Communist on the continent is following developments in Hungary eagerly. I don't believe England's share in Hungary's White Terror has been recognized. It all began with Col. Cunningham, the military representative of the British Empire in Vienna. Cunningham submitted a proposal to Bela Kun on July 25, 1919, the burden of which was, "If you resign, England and her allies guarantee that there will be no political persecutions whatsoever in Hungary." A week after this message was conveyed, Kun, threatened by Rumanian's advance, resigned. Since then 5000 moderate Socialists and Communists have been butchered in Hungary; another 47,000 have been interned or imprisoned. Even the old conservative trade unions have been scattered to the four winds, and if a worker has the impudence to ask for more than starvation wages nowadays, Horthy has him thrown into a cell and whipped. The most revolutionary worker and the edon of Magyar nobility have one conviction in common: "For us," they both say, "there can be no revolution or counter-revolution. There is no compromise!" The counter-revolution has in this respect, kept its word. Horthy has made "Communism" synonymous with death; he has hounded the most tepid menashvists into exile, thrown pale little liberals into cells, and erected a feudal edifice of Czarist Siberia right in the heart of Europe. He has condoned the raping of socialist women by his White Guards; he has winked shyly at street-fights that none but a pen able to deal with obscenities could describe.

THE LABOR PROBLEM.

EDWARD HUNGERFORD, in Harper's.
THE largest problem, it seems to me, of this vasty increasing problem of motor cars is not of their final use so much as of their manufacture itself. I could not view the great new automobile factories at Cleveland, at Akron, at Toledo, at Detroit, at Pontiac, at Flint, and at St. Louis without wondering whence is coming the labor which is to operate them. They told me at St. Louis in that great new industrial section—a full mile square—just springing up at the northwestern edge of the city which is to be largely devoted to the quantity production of automobiles, that 20,000 new operatives would be required—after thirty thousand new workers. Whence are they to come? For years immigration provided a great flow of raw and untrained labor into the land, labor which in due course became trained and skilled, and graduating from rough and common toil, was succeeded in it by fresh immigrants from overseas. Those gaten now are closed. Many reasons are advanced for this restriction. Prohibition—the bitterness of the ordinary man, raised in a wine-drinking or a beer-drinking country, against an arbitrary law which denies him these simple beverages while his employer has hard liquor sufficient to last him for years loaded in his cellar—is not the least of these. The new shops of Detroit and St. Louis, and the other rapidly growing industrial communities of the country as well, are still drawing their labor from the farming territory, and are no means less. But let me call your attention to the bitterness of the farmer—in almost every corner of the land—who asserts with increasing emphasis that he cannot and will not raise a maximum production of foodstuffs unless someone comes to his aid in his own terrible labor problem.

 If Hope had been a self-analyzing, paused at this moment long enough to think that she had thought to Bradley's young ass was leading him to believe. THAT MARGUERITE DEAN, of the Czechoslovakian, which not have its second birthday all next autumn, can teach world's greatest republic, the United States, how to take care of its wage women and children, is the interesting report brought back from Prague by Miss Ruth Crawford, who, as a representative of American T. W. C. A., has been recting an industrial and social survey of the new republic, asked by Dr. Alice Masaryk, daughter of President Masaryk.

Some of the improvements of conditions in this country, according to Miss Crawford, are:
 The eight-hour day.
 Elective bargaining.
 Compulsory sickness and death insurance.

Maternity benefits.
 Universal organization of work, the women on equal plane with men.
 As for the protection of child labor, Czechoslovak delegates to the World Labor Congress in Washington last autumn told me that not only is child labor prohibited, but that it is worked to work, but that the minimum working age will soon be 16—educationally and physically, as well as actual birthdays.

"Czechoslovakia, can teach United States a great deal in matter of industrial betterment," stated Miss Crawford.

"For one thing, all the workers, except professional people, are organized, both men and women—and women are organized with them. There is no such thing as a male labor party. Even the domestic servants, or household helpers, as they are called, have a union which over 19 years old. The women's union are aiming to have a representative in the assembly of day."

"All workers in the country have compulsory sickness and death insurance, which includes maternity benefit, accident compensation, and other phases of insurance. The workers, as a rule, pay two-thirds of insurance rate and the employer pays the third. This compulsory insurance has been in effect for most branches of work since 1888.

"When a worker is sick he paid every day, has the use of district physician and medicine reduced rates. This is an old law to Czechs, and is one of the great inheritances from Austrian rule. The collective bargaining and eight-hour day laws were established years ago, immediately after forming of the republic.

"The most influential group of gainful women are the clerks, young women who were called clerical positions at the birth of republic when the work of establishing a new Government was stuporous.

"If you remember the rush girls to Washington, D. C., in this country, with its well-organized machinery, was called on to in the war emergency, and the most gainful girl problem which Washington had on her hands, you imagine what happened in Prague with a whole new Government established, new officers of creation, an impossible amount of paper to do."

"Girls came by the thousands from that first summer. The 5000 girl clerks in Prague."

GAGE'S OFFICE MACKINTOSH

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

THIRD INSTALLMENT.

G MONTGOMERY looked straight down into her brown eyes. What he saw there, though it was merely a golden friendly smile, made him feel slightly dizzy. This was his first experience in the greatest talking game in the world—the universal, "You are, am I?" interchange of interested young human. With sudden resolution he sat down again.

"Not to you?" he asked quietly.

"No—not to me."

"Why not?"

If Hope had been a self-analyst she might have passed at this moment long enough to realize that as a matter of fact she had given rather less thought to Bradley's young assistant than she was leading him to believe. She had admired him in an impersonal way, had respected his ability, had enjoyed the few brief and matter-of-fact encounters each working day had brought to them. But strangely, in this moment, it seemed to her that they had known each other very well and for a long time, and that now suddenly she was seeing a new and stirring phase of an intimately familiar personality. The sensation made her self-conscious. So did the new, arrested look in Gage's steady eyes. She began to flounder a little.

"No, I—I—why, it's always hard to put these things into words. But I had an idea that you really had an unusually vivid personality and that you were—well, wearing a business mackintosh over it."

G. Montgomery Gage drew a deep breath. It was a great moment in life. At last, in a lonely world, he had found the one who understood him and who had discovered his carefully guarded secret.

"That's exactly what I've been doing," he confessed. "I've been modeling myself on a man I admired in my home town—the quiet, reserved, self-contained type. It seemed to me that he had just the right business manner—I've been imitating it for two years and hiding my real self—and now," he finished bitterly, "look at me!"

Hope's low laugh was like the gurgle of a hidden brook.

"Who is it that has found you lacking in color and personality?" she asked lightly. "Or may one ask?"

"One may, if you're the one." The youth in front of her was changing into another man before her eyes. The office mackintosh was opened, was thrown back. "It was Haskins."

"Oh! Mr. Haskins?"

Haskins, if he had heard those simple words, would have been pained by the modulations of Hope's voice. He admired and respected Miss Strong.

"But it's important," explained Gage, looking at her with that new expression in his steady eyes. "It's a question"—he hesitated, then plunged ahead. One didn't make half-way confidences to a girl like this. "It's a question of promotion. He thinks I'm not up to specifications in color and personality."

She nodded. "You've been playing the role of a man 20 years older than you are."

The young man sobered. "And the time has come to drop it?"

"No," she said positively. "Don't drop it. Vary it. Keep it, but let your own personality show through it. For instance," she put her head on one side and glanced at him mischievously, "smile often. You do it so well!"

Both young things laughed outright. At the sound every head near them turned in their direction, as if moved by a common spring. Neither observed the phenomenon. Gage rose again.

"I'll never forget this," he said. "Whether I reach the job or not, you've put me on the right track for future sprinting, and I know it."

She stopped him as he was turning away.

"There's one thing more," she said. "I know from observation that you're a very fast worker. But"—she hesitated—"you work so quietly and with so little fuss that undiscriminating persons" could wait until after business hours, and they did."

Until late that night, however, G. Montgomery Gage sat in a haze of tobacco smoke in the small living room of his bachelor apartment and made an inventory of his life as he was and might be. Thanks to the momentum supplied by Hope Strong, he had soon arrived at conclusions that were few but definite.

Obviously he had overdone the stern captain of industry attitude which he had so admired in his model. The model could carry it, being older and having, as it were, "arrived." On Gage it had settled like steel armor, stiffening him into what might easily have seemed confirmed priggishness. The thing to do, of course, was to follow Miss Strong's advice—keep enough of the old attitude to retain confidence in his stability, and loosen some of the youthful enthusiasm he had held so sternly in leash. By temperament he was overoptimistic, and he knew it. It would be a pretty job, well worth putting over, to merge those two personalities into one as steady and reliable as Gage had been, yet as human—no, not so likeable as Bob—he could never be that, he admitted—but as approachable and companionable as Bob. Perhaps he could put that much over. And that effect, he knew now, would incidentally supply the color for which the boss seemed yearning.

At this point Gage should have concentrated on Haskins and the new job, but he did nothing of the kind. He concentrated on Hope Strong, recalling all she had said and all he had said, wishing he had said more and better things, planning future talks in which he could say better things. Without realizing why, he was in a state of extraordinary mental and physical well-being. He could not remember having felt since boyhood such a vivid sense of being joyously alive. Perhaps it was the jolt he had received, or the talk with Hope, or both. One thing was certain he'd give those fellows in the office so much color and personality from now on that they'd think they were watching a rainbow.

During the next few days the members of the office staff of Haskins & Thorne were privileged to observe a surprising transformation in the personality of the quiet and reserved young man they had known as G. Montgomery Gage. For one thing, he had become George Gage.

"Great," applauded Bradley, when his assistant asked to have the name changed in the office records. "I hate these initials, doubled-barreled names. Suits you better, too. Why didn't you do it long ago?"

"No time to think of it," George Gage affably explained. "You've kept me too darned busy."

Bradley looked at him with sudden interest. "What's happened to you lately?" he demanded.

"Fallen in love?"

George sighed. "A fat chance I'd have if I did," he reminded his chief. "You've kept me here every evening this week. When I fall in love I'll ask for a vacation."

"You'll get it," promised Bradley. He had got into a way of watching his young assistant with a puzzled expression. The general office theory that the change in Gage's manner and spirits was due to a large increase in salary was not shared by Bradley, who knew better. George kept them all guessing. He was not overdoing his new role. He was very artistic. On the job he was almost as serious and reserved as ever. But among his associates he was rapidly becoming what he had not been up till now, "a good mixer."

They had all liked him, but in an unenthusiastic way. He was on the square. Now they sought him out, "jollied" him, and were casually "jollied" by him, and talked about him excessively among themselves.

Even Servants Unionize In Czecho-Slovakia, the World's Newest Republic

Universal Eight-Hour Day, Compulsory Sickness and Death Insurance, Maternity Benefits, and Universal Organization Instituted by New Government.

UNION OF GIRL CLERICAL WORKERS IS AN INFLUENTIAL GROUP IN PRAGUE

By MARGUERITE DEAN.

THE world's newest republic, Czecho-Slovakia, which will not have its second birthday until next autumn, can teach the world's greatest republic, the United States, how to take care of its working women and children, in the interesting report brought back from Prague by Miss Ruth Crawford, who, as a representative of the American Y. W. C. A., has been directing an industrial and social survey of the new republic, asked for by Dr. Alice Masaryk, daughter of its President.

Some of the improvements over conditions in this country, according to Miss Crawford, are:

The eight-hour day.

Compulsory sickness and death insurance.

Maternity benefits.

Universal organization of workers, the women on equal plane with the men.

As for the protection of children, Czecho-Slovak delegates to the Women's Labor Congress in Washington last autumn told me that not only is a child in the country under 14 allowed to work, but that the minimum working age will soon be 16—educationally and physically, as well as in actual birthdays.

"Czecho-Slovakia can teach the United States a great deal in the matter of industrial betterment," declared Miss Crawford.

"For one thing, all the workers, except professional people, are organized, both men and women—and the women are organized with them."

There is no such thing as a men's labor party. Even the domestic servants, or household helpers, as they are called, have a union which is over 10 years old. The women in this union are aiming to have a representative in the assembly some day.

"All workers in the country have compulsory sickness and death insurance, which includes a maternity benefit, accident compensation and other phases of insurance. The workers, as a rule, pay two-thirds of the insurance rate and the employer one-third. This compulsory insurance act has been in effect for most branches of work since 1885."

"When a worker is sick he is paid every day, has the use of the district physician and medicine at reduced rates. This is an old idea here, and is one of the good inheritances from Austria rule. The collective bargaining and eight-hour day laws were established two years ago, immediately after the formation of the republic."

"The most influential group of organized women are the clerks or young women who were called into clerical positions at the birth of the republic when the work of establishing a new Government was stupendous."

"If you remember the rush of girls to Washington, D. C., when the country, with its well organized machinery, was called on to meet the war emergency, and the subsequent girl problem which Washington had on her hands, you can imagine what happened in Prague with a whole new Government to establish, new officers to create and an impossible amount of paper work to do."

"Girls came by the thousands to Prague that first summer. There are 5000 girl clerks in Prague now and only 3000 women employed in factories. That makes the industrial problem very different from ours here."

The Y. W. C. A., besides making the social survey of Prague, which is now being used as a basis for social work that country, conducted a training school for women social workers in Prague which was overcrowded because of the unanimous desire among the Czech women to be of service to their country in these first years of independence.

This year a regular Y. W. C. A. program has been established, with a similar camp for girls in an old castle, association cafeterias in various parts of Prague, club centers for the 2000 women students at the university, as well as for Government clerks and shop girls, city playgrounds for children and recreation programs for girls.

When firmly on its feet the organization will probably be taken over by the Czech women, part of it the playground work by the Government. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are working together for the men and girls.

SHOULD WOMEN DROP WORK AFTER MARRIAGE?

Speaker Says Wives Find Greater Happiness Adding Professional Work to Home Sphere.

THAT women have rights and obligations other than those relating to their families is the assertion of Mrs. Eleanor Rowland Wenbridge, former dean of women at Reed College, Oregon, who is writing and speaking on this phase of the woman's movement today.

Mrs. Wenbridge spoke before nearly 3000 women and girls at the National Y. W. C. A. convention in Cleveland recently, admitting that her views were controversial but the result of long and careful study and thought. "Women are always happier when they are doing something than when they are wondering what to do next. Many married women who, during the war, were giving every spare moment to some form of war work and who now are doing nothing regular outside the home have admitted that they were more content during the war than now."

Mrs. Wenbridge urged that married women, especially those trained in some profession, should give a few hours a day to that work instead of taking up all their time with home life. This would mean a readjustment both in the home and in the business world where part time jobs would have to be established. It would mean that the highly trained woman would be giving her services to the world at large as well as to her family.

"There are thousands of schools closed now because teachers cannot be found," says Mrs. Wenbridge. "There are thousands of married women who have been successful teachers. There should be some arrangement made so that they could give part of their time to filling this need."

Mrs. Wenbridge, who is a thoroughly constructive thinker and writer on this phase of the woman's movement has had long and varied experience in many colleges in the United States and is now giving vocational advice to groups of college students, men and girls.

Dry Cleaning.

DRY CLEANING means cleaning with gasoline or benzine, substances which are very inflammable, and which, because of their low ignition point, must be handled with the utmost care. There is great risk of fire with the least carelessness. The conditions under which they may safely be used are plenty of air, suitable containers and no nearness to any kind of flame, from cigar, match, candle, lamp, grate or even a wood fire in a stove.

Gas fumes escape from gasoline and benzine, and can be ignited at a distance of several feet from where the work is being done. The fumes even have been known to take fire in a room adjoining.

To clean a garment well with gasoline, without leaving streaks or rings, it is necessary to use plenty of it, enough in which to immerse the garment wholly; and, after it has been rubbed and cleaned, enough more in which to rinse it. When any white material has been cleaned several times in gasoline it becomes yellow, and no amount of work can restore it.

If gasoline stands for a time, it becomes clear at the top, dirt settling to the bottom, but the most volatile gas has then evaporated and the residue is more oily, and will not clean so well, if used a second time. Dirty gasoline should not be poured down a drain, but upon a road or gravel walk.

Sometimes gasoline alone does not remove the spots. Melted soap may be used with it to dissolve the grease. If only one spot is cleaned, and a ring is formed on the cloth after the gasoline has dried, take some clean gasoline or rectified benzine on a cloth, and rub the ring carefully until it is entirely dry.

Always keep a clean pad under a garment from which you are removing spots by rubbing with a detergent, such as gasoline, to absorb the grease as it dissolves.

AUTUMN HATS ARE RICH IN COLOR

COLOR, which has played so prominent a part in the summer clothes, is being used again and in a greater degree than usual for winter, says Good Housekeeping. We find it in a dark velvet hat with feathers of vivid salmon pink; again on a Leontine model, ribbon in vivid color used abundantly to suggest a feather in the bright American shade.

In shape we find tremendous variations. The turbans are worn if anything a little lower, while the brimmed hats have somewhat higher crowns, perhaps. Hats are still worn well down on the head, so the eyebrow is just visible.

In materials, duvety, velvet, some taffeta for the "demonstration"—all play their part, as well as a rather rough heavy cloth which is sometimes combined with duvety or satin.

A Practical Frock of Sport Silk

SUMMER TIME in the city and summer time in the country are two quite different occasions as far as wardrobes are concerned. The dainty frocks and garden party hats which appear so picturesque against a background of green lawn, swaying trees and pretty flowers are out of place on the hard pavements of city streets that are walled with tall stone dwellings and in the business sections with taller stone structures. The girl who goes to business will choose cool and comfortable attire which is at the same time practical. This does not mean that dark colors will be retained; rather should one indulge in gay colors, which only summer time allows, and have the fabrics sensible, that they may withstand the laundry or dry cleaner. Gingham is as smart this year as ever and launders better than any other material, but there are many business girls who can afford at least one more expensive frock of the popular sport silk.

There are a number of variations in weave that present unusual effects, known by such fanciful names as "kumak kumak," "dewkist," "thistledu," etc. These are the silks that sport skirts exploit, and most every girl, whether in the city or not, will have such a skirt. But the design I am offering today is a practical dress made of one of the corded or striped sport silks that could be worn for business. The individual feature of it is the scant blouse waist with its very low front opening, which permits it being donned over the head. This bodice, instead of being supplied with a chemise, is worn over net foundation waist, whose dainty collar relieves the plainness of the neck. This design is one of the simplest possible to execute. The kimono blouse is bound with ribbon on sleeve edges and opening, and the skirt is in one piece, with a seam down the left side where the outstanding tuck finishes.

Uncommon Sense

The Man Who Hates His Job

By John Blake.

IF you don't like your work, quit it. Be sure that you will never succeed at a business you hate. What you do not do willingly, you will not do well.

It was Terence who said: "There is nothing so easy but that it becomes difficult when you do it with reluctance."

That is as true today as it was true when it was written in the second century before Christ.

There is drudgery in all work. But the man who is interested in his work will do the drudgery willingly, knowing that he is building the foundation for achievement.

If you look at the people in any office you can tell almost on the instant those who will get ahead. They do their work as if they liked to do it. They keep their eyes on the job, and not on the clock. They are alert and interested.

The others drag through their tasks, wishing heartily that the hour to quit was at hand.

They are sullen and morose. When extra work is given them they sulk. And you can almost see their mind wandering outside the office to things that seem to them far more important than mere toil.

The office manager is quick to detect zeal, and he is quick to detect indifference. And when men are needed for higher positions the men who are interested are the men who get them. All work is hard, but all work that is worth doing is interesting. If your work is not interesting, examine yourself first. See if you can't make it interesting by giving it a little more attention. If you can't, you'd better quit before you are fired, or worse still, kept in a position that amounts to nothing.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Old Briar Patch Seems Deserted.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Appearances so oft deceive.

'Tis hard to know what to believe.

—Sammy Jay.

WHEN Sammy Jay left Reddy Fox he was certain that Reddy knew nothing of what had become of Peter Rabbit, and this was a relief. But, of course, it left him no wiser than before. The next thing to do is to visit the Old Briar-patch, and see if I can find Peter there. If he isn't there, perhaps little Mrs. Peter can tell me what has become of him," thought Sammy.

To think is to act with Sammy Jay, and he headed straight for the dear Old Briar-patch. It just happened that little Mrs. Peter was peering out from the edge of the dear Old Briar-patch and saw Sammy when he was still some distance away. Mrs. Peter wasted no time. The babies were taking a nap, well hidden as usual. Peter was dozing not far away. Mrs. Peter hurried over to him and gave him a poke. "Follow me and hurry!" she commanded sharply.

Peter long ago learned to do as he was told and ask questions later, so he obediently followed little Mrs. Peter. She led the way to an old hole in the ground in the very middle of the Old Briar-patch. It had been dug long ago by Johnny Chuck's grandfather, Peter and Mrs. Peter sometimes used it in bad weather. Straight into this she led the way, with Peter at her heels. Once they were inside Peter ventured a question.

"What's the trouble now?" he asked.

"Sammy Jay is coming," whispered little Mrs. Peter.

"Pooh! Is that all?" exclaimed Peter. "Sammy can't hurt anybody."

"Perhaps he can't, but once he discovers our secret the whole world will know it," retorted Mrs. Peter. "And once the secret is out our worst enemies will begin to hunt us. Mind you, keep still. We'll make him think no one is at home."

When Sammy reached the dear Old Briar-patch he flew to a certain little tree close by the place which he knew to be Peter's favorite resting place. Of course, Peter wasn't there. Then Sammy flew to where he usually found little Mrs. Peter. Of course, she wasn't there. After that he flew all over the dear Old Briar-patch, peering into every part of it with those sharp eyes of his. All the time he made no sound. But when he became sure that he could not find either Peter or little Mrs. Peter, he tried calling them.

"Peter! Peter Rabbit!" he called, then cocked his head to listen. Of course, Peter didn't reply.

"Mrs. Peter! Oh, Mrs. Peter, I've got news of Peter for you!" called Sammy.

Mrs. Peter chuckled softly. "He thinks that if you are not at home I'll be so worried that I'll be sure to answer that," whispered she in one of Peter's long ears. "Sammy called and called, but all in vain. The dear Old Briar-patch seemed deserted. It gave Sammy a queer feeling. Somehow, he couldn't imagine the dear Old Briar-patch without Peter or Mrs. Peter there. He knew what a home-loving body little Mrs. Peter was, and to find her gone quite upset him.

"Either something dreadful has happened to both of them or they have moved away," thought Sammy. "It is queer, very queer. I don't like it. I don't like it a bit."

Then he started for the Old Orchard to spread the news that the dear Old Briar-patch was deserted.

Activities of Women.

In the new republics that have peered off the western borders of Russia—Lithuania, Estonia, Latvia, etc.—women have full suffrage.

When hotel cooks and waitresses at Wichita Falls, Tex., went on a strike club women of the city volunteered to act as strikebreakers and were paid from $50 to $75 a week for their services.

Besides her job as a high cost of living expert for the United States Government, Miss Edith Strauss possesses one of the handsomest collections of diamonds in Washington. She is also an ardent automobilist.

A dressmaking school has been opened in Tokio, Japan, for these Japanese women who wish to learn how to make western costumes. It is being conducted by Miss Hanaya Sakamoto, a Japanese secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who has studied in the United States and Canada. The class is attended by a number of the wealthier women of Tokio, who are dressing their children as western mothers do and wish to learn to make their underclothes as well as outer garments.

India is the first Moslem country in which women have ever received the vote. At present there are 88 members of the Tartar Parliament, of whom five are women, and in the municipal councils of the Crimean Tartar Republic, as the country over which the Parliament claims sovereignty is officially styled, women are represented on a basis nearly equal with that of the men.

Coffee Is Harmful to Growing Children and parents who permit its use sometimes have cause for regret.

With children in the family, and where the coffee flavor is liked,

Instant Postum

is generally accepted as the ideal table drink instead of coffee.

All grocers sell Postum, and its pleasing flavor, combined with its advantages of quick making and economy, soon make it a home favorite.

A PARTY PLATFORM.

We view with alarm the man-eating shark;
We point with pride to the setting sun.
We highly commend the song of the lark;
The poisonous snake we severely shun.
In fact we have very decided views
On almost everything—barring booze.

We hold that burglars are base and bad.
We're strong for virtue, and books, and schools,
We find all funerals sad.
We don't believe in the word of fools.
We disapprove of a rainy day—
But as for booze, we have nothing to say.

We fearlessly speak for the good and right.
We boldly denounce all evil and crime.
We firmly declare that black's not white.
We give great praise to the summer time.
We bravely say what we really think
On all great topics, excepting drink.

Of what we have done we are truly proud.
Our record's a glorious thing to see.
We say straight out that the other crowd
Is all that a party should not be.
Our platform makes our party.
But booze is safer to let alone!

NON-ESSENTIAL WORK MAY HAVE TO SUSP

Committee to Request A Unless Strike Situation Is proved by Wednesday

Unless the situation resulting from the unauthorized strike of day in Illinois coal mines is better next Wednesday, the Coal Commission appointed by the Mayor to serve the city's supply for essential industries likely will request nonessential industry suspension from a week to 10 days. The committee's opinion of the effect of such action was stated by E. J. Wallace, chairman, after meeting today.

The visit of two of the committee members to the Kentucky coal in a search for coal has been to observe the effect of the order of President Lewis of the Miners of America for the strike return to their work. If the order do not resume Monday, the order for coal elsewhere will be begun. The committee also announced that unless members of the Service Bureau, which is an organization of dealers, complied with order of the committee for delivery to essential industry only, the committee would request the roads to refuse to deliver of them.

James Mason, district secretary of the Belleville district of the Illinois Miners' Union, said today that the union had received communication from President Lewis and that he was in a position to say what the union would do when they received from Lewis to resume work. He said that his personal opinion of the matter was that the order pay no attention to the order. Police to Report Delivered.

An order instructing police to stop all loads of coal they are on the street and require a driver the scale ticket and destination was issued today. Chief of Police O'Brien at the request of the Coal Committee.

The policemen are instructed to note the amount of the coal they stop and to make daily for transmission to the Coal Committee, which will examine reports to see that none but essential industry is being supplied. A woman operator of Na-

Tenn., today communicated with J. Wallace, chairman of the Committee, offering from five cars of coal at $10.50 a ton. offer was considered today at conference of city officials and it was found that the city's needs have enough coal to last weeks and the price offered is $8 more than the city is accustomed to paying.

Applicants for coal continue to besiege the Coal Committee. One mine at Edwardsville worked for a short time yesterday to get out coal for the ice plant, supplies that community will. The mine will be worked at night to keep the water and lighting in the service.

DUTCH PARLIAMENT APPROVES $80,000,000 LOAN TO GERMANY.
By the Associated Press.
THE HAGUE, July 31.—The chamber of Parliament has unanimously ratified the loan of 20,000,000 guilders (normally about 600,000) to Germany.

A dispatch from The Hague July 31, said that, although Dutch mercantile interests offered strenuous objection, the chamber of Parliament by action approved the above loan to Germany. The dispatch added the Netherlands ministers had assured that the allies would have no objections to the loan.
